THE CITY IN A FRENZY.

[Special dispatch to the Courier-Journal.]

A RIGOROUS INVESTIGATION TO BE HAD.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The Secretary of the Treasury to-day telegraphed to Supervising Inspector Lowe to make the fullest investigation of the boiler explosion in New York, on yesterday, and to report in detail to the department. General Belknap, the chief of the Supervising Inspectors, has also been ordered to be present and superintend the examination. The department evidently thinks that the local inspection of the boiler made last month was not a proper one. The new and elaborate law which has just gone into effect to protect life and property on boats propelled by steam, provides rigorous measures for its violation, and these, it is said, will be enforced on every guilty person connected with yesterday's disaster.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Coroners Keenan and Young visited the scene of the explosion last evening. Coroner Keenan will hold an investigation. It will not begin for several days, perhaps not before next week. It is intended that it shall be searching and thorough, and the opinion of several experts, with reference to the condition of the boiler, and the material of which it was made, and the amount of steam carried at the time, will be obtained. The jury will be composed of business men, or practical mechanics, able to render an intelligent verdict, according to the evidence, and place the blame for this appalling calamity where it properly belongs.

THE BODIES AT THE MORGUE.

The jury will view the bodies at the morgue, and permits will be given by Coroner Keenan for their removal by the relatives or undertakers. By order of the coroner no permits for the removal were granted yesterday or last night.

THEORY OF THE DISASTER.

No theory is offered by the officers of the company for the disaster.

The engineer of the Northfield says that when the Westfield steamed out from the island she had four cocks of water, and from the fact that upon the night report accompanied the explosion, he thinks there could have been but a small head of steam on.

Stevens, secretary of the Staten Island Company, says that there was a government safety valve attached to the boiler.

THE PERSONS ON BOARD.

The Collector asserts that there could not have been more than two hundred and fifty persons on board the boat. The Westfield being an extra boat, and but few persons aware that it had been placed on the line, he holds that it was not possible for so many to have been on her as though she had been on a regular trip.

A MAYOR'S STATEMENT.

Mayor Carroll, of Syracuse, says: I was standing on the main deck, leaning against a rail, reading a newspaper, and Messrs. Eckel and Sherlock were standing beside me. Mr. Phillipson and Mr. Levi were sitting in the forward cabin. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, the violence of which lifted me out into the air, and I fell into the hold among the confused dead and dying women and children. I was nearly covered with debris, almost blinded, but not dazed. Recovering in a moment, I groped my way through the darkness, and clambered out without assistance. It seemed to me as though everything took hold of what was redhot. My hands were dreadfully burned. A jet of steam struck me on the forehead, and many pieces of wood or iron bruised my ankles as I was groping my way out. The scene was frightful, the groans of the wounded appalling. With the explosion came a terrific shriek. When I finally made my way through the debris, and as the cloud of dust cleared away I gained the deck, and was assisted to land. There was no premonition; no sound of escaping steam; but, while all were gaily chatting or looking about, the explosion took place with a heavy, rumbling sound, like the blasting of rocks. I saw people hurled hither and thither, and then with me all was darkness for a moment, hope to never behold another such a fearful scene.

ANOTHER STATEMENT.

Mr. Sherlock's statement: I was standing alongside Mayor Carroll, smoking a cigar, and watching the people, when I was suddenly hoisted into the air. It seemed to me that I never should come down. I fell, and, after heading into the water, sinking, I know not how many feet deep. The splash into the water brought me to my senses, and being an excellent swimmer, I rose to the surface. My head came in contact with something hard, and believing that I had struck the bottom of the boat, I held my breath, and struckout toward the light. Reaching the surface I was helped out of the water by people on the wharf. The Mayor and his associates, making their way through the dense crowd, were driven to the Grand Central Hotel, where their wounds were dressed by Dr. Fisher. When visited by a reporter, late in the evening, they were comparatively comfortable, and hope to be able to endure the journey home by to-morrow. Mayor Carroll was bolstered in a large arm-chair, his hands enveloped in cloths, which were continually moistened by soothing liquors. Associate Alderman Bradley is all attention, doing all in his power to alleviate their sufferings.

WHO'S TO BLAME.

If one-half the reports are true the Government Inspector should be indicted by the grand jury. Had his examination of the boiler been thorough the disaster could not have happened. It seemed the engineer apprehended an explosion, for he says he looked at the patch on the cylinder last Thursday. An examination of the cylinder which was blown out shows that the iron had been eaten out around the rivets till it was as thin as four sheets of letter paper.

GRAPPLING FOR THE DEAD BODIES

was kept up all night, and is still going on. Shortly after midnight Warren Breuman reported that there were over forty dead bodies in Bellevue, and about sixty most horribly scalded and bruised, many of whom will doubtless die. He said that over ten thousand persons had visited the hospital after dark, and that the whole force of surgeons and assistants were completely worn out.

THE WRECK.

Late yesterday evening the Westfield was taken in tow by her sister vessel, Northfield. She is to be taken to the foot of Eighth street for repairs. The character of the explosion was such as to tear away and entirely ruin one-half of the vessel. Nothing can be seen but one mass of iron, timber, hats, shoes, parasols, umbrellas and pieces of torn clothing of every description. The windows and doors aft the boat have been shattered and torn from their hinges. Benches and settees are lying in confusion. The company estimates the damage to the vessel at $12,000, the principal loss being the wreck of the boiler. The boat is known as an extra boat, and is used Sundays and holidays, or at hours when the tide of travel sets strongly to Staten Island.

She was accustomed to make three trips on Sunday, starting at 1:30 o'clock, 3:30, and 7:30, P. M., from Whitehall landing, coming between the regular boats, which make hourly trips. She was about to start on her first trip yesterday, and was two or three minutes behind her time when the boiler exploded. There were two hundred and two hundred and fifty passengers on board at the time, according to a statement of the officers and ticket-taker. Most of the passengers congregated almost directly over the boiler, on the southerly part of the boat, in order to catch the breeze blowing from the south.

LOOKING FOR FRIENDS.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Thousands of people are congregated around Bellevue Hospital. Hundreds have come to hear something of friends supposed to be killed or injured by yesterday's explosion. A large force of police is engaged in preserving order amid the general rush and excitement of the occasion.

Of the forty dead bodies brought to Bellevue Hospital yesterday twenty have been removed by their friends for interment. Nine of the bodies still at the hospital have been recognized, and will be removed to-day. In the morgue there are eleven victims of the explosion unrecognized. On one slab are the bodies of a woman and child, and on another that of a woman. Then five bodies of men. Most of the bodies present a frightful appearance, from the addition to the fact that they are swollen and the features distorted by the water, they have in most cases been most terribly scalded.

Since an early hour this morning there has been a regular file in and out of the morgue, either from curiosity to witness the awful spectacle of the unrecognized dead lying there, or with a painful interest trying and yet fearful of recognizing among the yet unknown victims the features of a relative or friend. There are about sixty injured victims in the wards at Bellevue Hospital. The surgeons say that a large number of them are beyond recovery.

About 9 o'clock this morning the body of Matilda Nelson, aged seven years, killed by the explosion, was found in the water at the slip of the Staten Island ferry, and removed to the station-house.

DEATH OF SHERIFF MADDEN.

Deputy Sheriff Madden, of Brooklyn, who was among those scalded by the explosion yesterday, died this morning.

The members of the Syracuse delegation, who were injured yesterday by the explosion of the Staten Island ferryboat Westfield, are all doing well.

Crowds of people have been congregating during the morning around Center-street Hospital, where many injured by the explosion yesterday are lying.

PUBLIC INTEREST

in regard to the full extent of the terrible disaster is on the increase, and the explosion is the theme of conversation among all classes.

NAMES OF THE VICTIMS.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The total deaths from the boat explosion yesterday is thus far fifty-seven. The following are the names of the victims identified, in addition to those previously reported: Andrew Coyle, 51 Monroe street; Isaac W. Harvard, Canal and Monroe streets; Freeland, 310 East Broadway; Samuel H. Phillips, 130 East Forty-fifth street; Rachael Phillips, 130 East Forty-fifth street; Samuel Phillips, Jr., 130 East Forty-fifth street; Pat. Linley, 658 Second avenue; Matilda Nelson, 150 Sackett street; Eliza Reeder, Madison street; Michael Finn, 530 Canal street; Lawrence McCormack, 74 Water street; Ellen Groom, Flatbush, L. I.; J. Randolph Upman, Douglas street; Arthur Shewerfere, 346 Clinton street, Brooklyn; Wm. Scheff, Clifton, L. I; Mary Metcalf, 331 West Thirty-fifth street; Patrick Souders, 178 Tillory street, Brooklyn; Mary Friedhoffe, 151 Thompson street; Emily Friedhoff, 151 Thompson street; John Beck, 310 Tenth avenue; George Henry Horn, 6 Mott street; J. J. Jutis, 504 West Twenty-seventh street; Henry Konn, Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn; Louisa Klassor, 74 First avenue; Louis Neidhoff, 69 Middagh street, Brooklyn; Geo. L. Stats, Stapleton, L. I.; Amelia Tigh, 8 Lewis street; Mrs. Catherine Chandler, Clinton street, Brooklyn; Lawrence McCormick, 94 Wallworth street, Brooklyn; John Risley, Atlantic City, N. J.

Seventeen of the killed and twenty-four of the wounded were residents of Brooklyn.

TOO MUCH STEAM.

Thomas P. Powers, inspector of boilers in Brooklyn and examining engineer, inspected the boiler of the Westfield to-day, and states that the explosion occurred from an overpressure of steam, as there is no appearance of low water; on the contrary, there is every sign that there was plenty of water in the boiler.

E. R. Lowe, sub-marine diver, who recovered the body of Doc Simmons and that of Strong, engineer, at the New Hamburg disaster, is looking for the bodies of those lost by the explosion.

THE HORRORS.

Bernard Smith, aged 30, of 78 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, and wife, aged 28, and two children, one a little girl and the other an infant, were on the Westfield at the time of the explosion. The husband missing, the wife and little girl dead, and the baby badly scalded.

Up to a late hour to-night no additional deaths were reported. Of the patients at Bellevue Hospital only Andrew Nesbit, of 72 Dam street, who had his skull fractured by a piece of the boiler, is in immediate danger of death.

At 9 o'clock the morgue was closed and policemen stationed at all approaches to keep back the crowds who all day and up to a late hour strove to gain admission. There are twenty bodies in the morgue awaiting interment, two unrecognized.

Experts are said to be acting under orders of the Secretary of the Treasury examining fragments of the boiler at police headquarters.

THE SOUTH.

A Prominent Gentleman Turns Out to be a Counterfeiter.

MEMPHIS, July 31.—R. B. McGee, a prominent citizen of Trenton, Tennessee, prior to the war, and a member of the Senate of the State Bank at that place, was arrested here last evening, charged with passing counterfeit money. On searching his baggage some $1,300 in counterfeit United States Treasury notes were found. Owing to the high social position enjoyed by McGee, his arrest caused considerable excitement.

HE ESCAPES FROM JAIL.

MEMPHIS, July 31.—R. B. McGee, arrested yesterday for passing counterfeit United States Treasury notes, was taken before United States Commissioner Channing this morning, and in default of ten thousand dollars bail was committed to jail. About seven o'clock this evening he managed to scale the wall and escape. As he was sixty-six years of age its a mystery how he accomplished the feat.

DEATH OF MRS. LINCOLN'S BROTHER.

Capt. David H. Todd, formerly of Lexington, Kentucky, and a brother of Mrs. Lincoln, died in Huntsville, Alabama, last night, of consumption.

FLOOD AT LITTLE ROCK.

LITTLE ROCK, July 31.—A very heavy rain fell Sunday afternoon, overflowing the banks of the town branch, doing considerable damage to property. The cries of Wm. Field, Hernie & Morrison, J. W. Beidelman & Co., Alden & Co., Wolf & Bro., in Robinson row, were small sufferers, water and goods damaged to the amount of two thousand dollars. Water a foot deep is in the boarding-house of Mr. Ware. Furniture and carpeting all injured, and articles of much value swept away. Gas pipe across branch broken last night. An employe of the gas company, with lighted candle, was endeavoring to connect the pipe again, when the light came in contact with the escaping gas, causing an explosion and severe burning of the man.

THE CHICOT TROUBLE.

Judge Mason, of Chicot, accompanied by a large number of friends, is here endeavoring to have the troubles of that county, growing out of the disputed judgeship, arranged. It is understood the matter will be satisfactorily fixed up by either Mason or Ragland withdrawing their claims to the office. Ragland is here also.

THE PADUCAH BRIDGE.

A special from Paducah to-day says all the stock in the Paducah and Illinois Bridge Company over the Ohio at that place was subscribed to-day.

SUNDAY LAWS.

The Great Question Agitating Cincinnati—An Immense Mass Meeting and the Resolutions.

CINCINNATI, July 31.—A mass meeting, called to give expression to the sentiments of the friends of the Sunday laws now sought to be repealed here, was held to-night in Pike's Opera House. There was an immense audience, fully three thousand ladies and gentlemen present, composed largely of our best citizens. Fully two thousand more sought admission, but could not get in. Hon. George F. Davis, of the Board of Aldermen, presided, with a long list of vice presidents. Addresses were made by the Presidents, Wm. M. Ramsey, Esq., Hon. Rufus King and prominent clergymen.

They were enthusiastically applauded. Resolutions were adopted declaring Sunday laws in the State and municipalities to be a wise, judicious and necessary enactment, and in complete harmony with State and Federal Constitutions, the genius of our Government, and the moral conditions of the people; that institutions and announcing opposition to any change of policy that would repeal them; that a demand for repeal was upon irregular and unconstitutional grounds, and that from the toiling multitude, nor from those engaged in legitimate and honorable trade, but from manufacturers and dealers in intoxicating beverages, whose business tended to lawlessness, poverty, and crime, could not be regarded as the voice of the people but of a class in the interest of dissipation, which should not influence the law-makers; that the preservation of the civil Sabbath substantially as now regulated by law was indispensable to the moral and physical welfare of the laboring classes, and the best and only available means of protecting them from the avarice of capitalists, and of securing to them a regular stated day of rest which the laws of nature imperatively demand; that, as citizens, they should be protected against the enactment of the new Sunday laws, and would honorably labor to maintain unaltered the time-honored policy of the Government in regard to the toleration and protection of religion.

PAUL BAGLEY.

CINCINNATI, July 31.—Paul Bagley, now in Kentucky, has addressed O'Donovan Rossa, New York city, expressing regret that they have proved to be the Irish militia regiment in New York city, asking him to say to General Thomas F. Burke, and other Fenian exiles, that he should regret seeing their names connected with any movement to disturb the peace of the common country.

THE GERMAN TEACHERS.

A national convention of the German teachers, numbering nearly two hundred, assembled to-day, and adopted a constitution. An address was read to-night, resulting in the choice of P. Engelman, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, President; C. H. Borgen, of Cincinnati, Vice President; F. Thurm, Brooklyn; W. Muller, Louisville; and W. Deltsch, St. Louis, Secretaries. The convention will remain in session until Thursday.

Charles Schurz, Sr., of this city, well known as author of Selden's condensed system of accounts, died at Indianapolis yesterday.

KILLED HIS SWEETHEART.

The Terrible Alternative of a Young Indianian—The Indianapolis Gamblers.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 31.—A terrible tragedy took place yesterday at London, Shelby county. Henry Ellington, for some time an unsuccessful suitor of Miss Lizzie Smith, on Sunday made a final proposal for her hand, and was rejected. Yesterday, while her parents were at church, he attacked her, throwing her to the ground and trampling upon her. He then took a brick and beat her head and face in a shocking manner, severing one ear and breaking her jaw. He then fled to the woods, leaving her for dead. An alarm was raised, and he was pursued and caught by the neighbors. He is now in jail. Miss Smith was alive this morning, but her recovery is impossible. Ellington expresses himself only sorry that he did not make sure work of his victim. It is feared he will be lynched.

Twenty-five city gamblers were this morning fined to the amount of $10 in the City Court.

ENGLAND UNEASY.

The British People Indignant at the Prince Arthur Pension.

A Rousing Meeting Prohibited, but the Police Unable to Suppress it.

Capture of a Communist Flag in Trafalgar Square.

Exciting Debate in the Lords Over a Motion to Censure the Queen.

THE PRINCE OF WALES HISSED.

[World Special.]

LONDON, July 31.—The Government to-day prohibited a meeting, at Trafalgar square, to protest against granting an annuity to Prince Arthur, and massed a force of police and soldiers there to prevent the assembling. Alarmed at the threatening aspect of the populace, the force was withdrawn. The immense meeting was held without molestation, and violent revolutionary sentiments were expressed.

Communists in Trafalgar Square.

LONDON, July 31.—A meeting at Trafalgar square to protest against the proposed allowance to Prince Arthur was held to-night. Five thousand people were present. The speakers addressed masses at different points, and much excitement was manifested. The entire police reserve was called out, and seized a Communist flag, carried by one of the clubs, amid boisterous demonstrations. Some fighting is reported, and arrests have been made. The meeting adjourned in disorder, and the crowds were dispersed by the police.

LONDON, July 30.—The meeting in Hyde Park to-day for the purpose of agitating the subject of organizing an opposition against the proposed allowance to Prince Arthur, turned out a ridiculous fizzle. There were not, all told, more than one thousand persons present. One group was addressed by Mr. Odger, but his remarks attracted but little attention. There was no excitement beyond that occasioned by the chaffing of a few questionable individuals.

LONDON, July 30.—In addition to the meeting held in Hyde Park yesterday, to protest against the granting by Parliament of an annuity to Prince Arthur, a similar assemblage has been convoked for to-night in Trafalgar Square. It has been prohibited by the authorities, but Odger, who leads the movement, persists in his determination to hold and address the meeting.

The chief theme of conversation in all circles to-day, as well as the editorials in the journals, is the expected introduction in the House of Commons of a proposition to censure the government for abolishing the system of purchase of army commissions by royal warrant.

Censure of the Queen.

The Duke of Richmond then moved a vote of censure of the Queen's message abolishing the purchase system in the army, as unworthy of a ministerial resort. He denounced in strong language the speeches made at the banquet at the Mansion House, on Saturday, in relation to the treaty at Washington, and claimed that the Royal prerogative was much strained in the ratification of that instrument without the assent of Parliament.

Earl Granville spoke in defense of the message as responding simply to the previous action of the House of Commons.

In the Commons, Mr. Gladstone stated that, unless the bill relative to elections passed by Tuesday, an October session of Parliament would be imminent.

Peter Alfred, member for Leicester, denounced the making of appropriations for Prince Arthur, who, he said, had better serve the country than be its pensioner.

On the vote of censure, the Marquis of Saulsbury thought the Lords were bound to resent this grand outrage, for, unrebuked, it would remain a standing menace to the authority of the House.

The Duke of Argyle severely reprobated the suggestion of the Marquis of Saulsbury, stigmatizing him as a narrow and bitter partisan.

Lord Romelly contended that such exercise of the royal prerogative was unprecedented.

Lord Buzance defended the action of the Government, and argued to show that the interposition of the crown was entirely constitutional.

Earl Derby strongly advocated the motion to censure, and Earl Russell said he should vote for it, declaring the Government had incurred a serious responsibility.

Lord Northbrook thought the proposed course of the Government was the only possible one left for it.

Lord Cairns spoke at great length against the Government, seeking to prove it a use of royal power without precedent.

At the conclusion of Lord Cairns' speech a vote was taken and the motion to censure was defeated, the Government having a majority of 80 votes.

The Prince Arthur Pension.

LONDON, July 31.—In the House of Lords to-day, Earl Granville, in moving a favorable answer to her royal Majesty on behalf of Prince Arthur, urged that the demand merely initiated a contract made at the beginning of the reign of the Queen. He spoke in warm eulogy of the Prince, whose visit to Canada had secured the affection of the colonists. The Duke of Richmond heartily seconded the motion, which was carried without division.

LONDON, July 31.—The House of Commons to-night passed the bill granting an allowance of fifteen thousand pounds per annum to Prince Arthur. The vote was 376 yeas to 11 nays.

The Commons, after passing Prince Arthur's annuity, went into committee on the election bill. Gladstone opposed the various amendments. A division was had on the proposition that election expenses be paid out of local taxation, which resulted in a majority of 96 against the government.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Prince of Wales In Ireland.

LONDON, July 31.—Dispatches from Dublin report great enthusiasm manifested over the expected visit of the Prince of Wales to Ireland. The Prince is already on the route, accompanied by Prince Arthur, Duke of Cambridge, and the nobility and officers of the army. The royal party will arrive at Dublin to-night. The review of troops by the Prince, in Phoenix Park on Friday next, will doubtless be a grand sight, and the ball of the Lord Mayor is expected to surpass in brilliancy anything of the kind which has yet been given in Ireland.

DUBLIN, July 31.—The Prince of Wales and party arrived this evening and had a popular reception. The weather is unusually cold for this season, and although the streets were crowded with spectators, the demonstrations were not so enthusiastic as they might have been under more favorable circumstances. The Fenian element was not absent, and as the royal visitors passed over the route to the palace some hisses were heard from the sidewalks. The city was gaily decorated with flags, but the illumination to-night was not so general as expected.

Death of a British Dean.

Rev. Henry Longueville Mansel, D. D., Dean of St. Paul's church, died to-day in his 51st year.

Thirty of the Newcastle strikers have gone to the United States.

The Persian Stories.

LONDON, July 31.—The Persian Minister denies, especially, the reports which have been received recently of the ravages committed by the famine, plague and cholera in Persia. He says there is undoubtedly a lamentable scarcity of food among the lower classes and that they are fed at the expense of the Government in the cemeteries, because only there is there sufficient room to accommodate the great crowds of people who appeal to the authorities for subsistence, and order is preserved by the police, and from this fact has arisen the story that force has been employed for prevention of the disinterment of bodies for use as food. The Minister expresses the opinion that all the horrible statements emanating from this country are the work of commercial agents.

South American Advices.

Advices from Rio Janeiro to July 3d have been received by mail steamer at Lisbon. News unimportant. The Argentine Minister to Brazil is dead. Fighting continues in Uruguay between the two parties known as Blancos and Colorados.

The Paris Elections.

PARIS, July 31.—The fact that but few ballots were cast at the municipal election and that the great mass of the voters abstained from the exercise of the franchise is generally attributed to a continuancy of the state of siege in Paris, which exercises a baneful influence on all classes of society.

Resuming Work in France.

The immense porcelain factories at Sevres, work in which has been entirely suspended since the commencement of the siege of Paris by the Germans, are to be at once re-established.

Favre's Resignation Accepted.

PARIS, July 31.—The acceptance of the resignation of Favre as Minister of Foreign Affairs is confirmed.

Increasing the French Army.

Thiers is consulting with General Cissey with a view of increasing the army.

The Communist Prisoners.

The number of Communists awaiting trial is 23,000. In order to render possible the disposition of so great a number of cases, a bill has been introduced in the Assembly increasing the number of judges, and removing all restrictions from those judges who have, at any time, committed themselves against or been obliged to act against the Versailles Government.

The Elections.

The result of the first and supplementary elections for members of the municipal council of Paris has been declared. The council is composed of thirty-eight Conservatives, seven moderate Republicans, twenty-seven Republicans and ten ultras.

The German Occupation.

President Thiers, replying to the delegation from occupied provinces, intimated that in six weeks occupation by German troops would be limited to Champagne and Lorraine.

Major Excommunication.

KONIGSBURG, July 31.—The Archbishop of Ermeland has pronounced the sentence of major excommunication against Dr. Woolman, and directs that it be read from all pulpits in the archepiscopal diocese.

Labor Troubles in Berlin.

BERLIN, July 31.—The journeymen masons of this city have struck, and have appointed a committee to confer with the masters with a view more speedily to accomplish the object of the strike. A resolution has been adopted that it is the duty of all unmarried masons to leave the city for temporary work elsewhere.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

LONDON, July 31—4:30 P. M.—Consols closed at 93⅝ for money and account. U. S. bonds, coupons of 1862 93; old 1865s 92¾; 1867s 92; 10-40s 92.

PARIS, July 31—4:30 P. M.—Bourse, rentes 53 francs and 57 centimes.

LIVERPOOL, July 31.—Cotton, the market closed flat; middling 6⅞@7; middling Orleans 7⅛@7¼; sales to-day of 8,000 bales, of which 500 bales were for speculation and export. Lard 60s 6d. Turpentine 43s. Breadstuffs are unchanged.

FRANKFORT, July 31—P. M.—United States coupons of 1862 closed at 96¾.

NEW YORK.

The Mace-Coburn Fight.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Mace and Coburn met in Wilkes' Spirit of the Times office to-day and made a deposit each on their fight. They then crossed over to Jersey City and paid down the remainder of the stakes.

PERSONAL.

Among the pass engers in the steamship Atlantic, from Liverpool, are A. B. Darling, J. H. Bishop, Mr. Perdyce Barker, Wirt Sikes and Olive Logan.

Arrived—Steamship France, from Liverpool.

HEAVY SUITS.

Andrew J. Garvey and a number of other claimants began suits in the Supreme Court to-day to recover from the city amounts which they allege are due them for public buildings. Garvey sues for $169,000 and Edmund Jones $30,000. The latter gentleman claims $50,000 from the city, and has obtained from the Supreme Court a mandamus compelling the comptroller to pay him $300,000 of this amount.

THE SMAL-POX.

The Brooklyn health board to-day discharged four old and experienced sanitary inspectors, in consequence of the recent rapid abatement of the small-pox in that city.

WIFE MURDER.

Catherine Rider, residing in South Brooklyn, was beaten to death by her husband this morning.

NEW YORK CROPS.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 31.—Reports from interior of Dutchess county show that the hay crop has been seriously damaged by frequent rains. Almost certain that two-thirds of the crop is lost.

New York Stock and Money Market.

NEW YORK, July 31—P. M.

The Gold market was dull throughout the day with all the business at 112@112⅛. The rates paid for use were 1-32 ₱ cent. and for carrying 1 ₱ cent.

The Government bond market was steady all day, with a further advance in 5-20s of 1862 and 10-40s.

The Money market is without change, and call loans easy at 6@7 ₱ cent.

The Stock market at the close was firm but very quiet. New York Central, Wabash and Reading were the strongest stocks of the day. Northwestern shares were weak at one time, but finally rallied. Northwestern preferred shares were scarce for future delivery, and to-day 1-32 to 1-16 of 1 ₱ cent. was paid for use.

The Aurora (Ills.) Silver Belting Factory was burned yesterday. Loss $25,000—insurance $10,000.

MR. CHENEY'S CHURCH.

Further correspondence has taken place between Bishop Whitehouse and the wardens of his Chicago church, resulting in the reading of the following notice in that church: "The Right Reverend the Bishop of the Diocese will hold an Episcopal visitation and administer the sacred rite of confirmation in Christ Church, Chicago, on the second Sunday after Trinity, being the 10th day of September next, at the usual hour of morning service, the Bishop having been pleased, on request, to change the time from the 13th of August to the 10th of September." The notice was read by Rev. Dr. Kelley, Mr. Cheney being absent, who officiated at Christ Church by the invitation of the wardens.

Warden Albert Crane, in a card in to-day's papers, makes the following explanation:

There is nothing in the correspondence about some minister in good standing to present the candidates, but the party will arrange for a later day for confirmation, as many of the class were absent. It did expressly state that, whatever day might be selected, the rector and officers of Christ Church will, with great pleasure, make all needful preparation to receive you, &c. Surely, if officers of Christ Church, the Rev. Chas. E. Cheney, is to receive the Bishop and make all needful preparations, it would be quite unnecessary to take aid of any other clergyman. This correspondence grew out of a letter from the bishop to the wardens, and would have only been proper during such absence. The rector, officers and congregation of Christ Church claim they have ever recognized the bishop's episcopal authority, but this does not stop them from expecting that such authority shall be legally executed.

AN EDITOR FOUND FLOATING.

DETROIT, MICH., July 31.—The body of Joseph French, cashier of the Detroit Advertiser and Tribune, was found in Sydenham river, near Wallaceburg, Ontario, Sunday afternoon. He had, undoubtedly, drowned himself while in a fit of temporary insanity.

A DETROIT FIRE.

The boat-house of the Excelsior Club was destroyed by fire this morning; also four ice-houses, the property of Seitz Brothers. Total loss $15,000. The boat club lost all their boats and furniture.

WASHINGTON.

THE NEW YORK EXPLOSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.—The Secretary of the Treasury has called on the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats for a thorough investigation into the causes of the explosion of the boiler of the ferryboat Westfield in New York harbor on Sunday afternoon, together with a detailed account of her last inspection by the Board. The Supervisors are instructed to make a rigid inquiry into every fact connected with the accident, and report as soon as the investigation is concluded, whether her last inspection was such as is required of inspectors under the law.

THE INDIANS.

A letter from agent Darlington, dated Cheyenne and Arapahoe agency, July 15th, says: "The Indians are all quiet. I know of no depredations committed this season yet. The Kiowas have been earnestly endeavoring to draw the Cheyennes into a general war. I have some hope that the most tempting crisis has passed, but the present is no time, in my opinion, to slack our vigilance."

THE CANADIAN FRONTIER.

It has come to the knowledge of the Secretary of the Treasury that an extensive practice has been going on along the Canadian frontier by persons engaged in shipping goods on foreign vessels to a foreign port, to be reshipped to a port in the United States on the frontier. This custom is a violation of the law, and subjects vessels engaged in it to a forfeiture of their cargo, and the payment of a tonnage duty of fifty cents per ton on her admeasurement. The collectors, however, are in doubt as to the penalty, and in many cases, in order to collect the tonnage duty, have refused to admit the goods, holding the consignees of said goods for the payment of the tonnage duty. Secretary Boutwell has, therefore, issued instructions that the penal tonnage imposed on the vessel is not charged on the goods subsequently liable to forfeiture, in so far as to require prepayment of that tax before the entry of the goods.

Orders were issued to-day by the Secretary of the Treasury to collectors of customs on Canadian frontiers, and United States consular officers in Canada, to suspend action under any orders heretofore issued applying to American sealocks, to cars passing the frontier line with dutiable goods without appraisement, but all parties who have bonded under act of July 14, 1870, and now using said locks will be required to continue their use. This order of the Secretary is made with a view to re-examine by a new commission into the practical utility and price of the lock referred to as regards its adoption for railroad purposes and protection of the interests of the Government.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS

to-day are $852,756 64. The total receipts for July were $14,236,057 09.

NEW CONSUL.

The President has recognized Christian Bore as Consul of Norway and Sweden at New York.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President has made the following appointments: Edward Mitchell, of Michigan, Governor of New Mexico; Wm. L. Warring, Assessor of Internal Revenue for collection district of New Mexico.

CONTRACTS.

The Secretary of State has awarded the contract for granite for the foundation walls and steps of the cellar and basement stories, and the walls of the court-yards, facing and coping of the area-walls of the new State Department building, to Dorsett Powell & Smith, of Fox Island, Maine. The prices to be paid are sixty-three cents per cubic foot for stones, the dimensions of which do not exceed forty cubic feet, with an increase of one cent per cubic foot for each additional cubic foot in stones which exceed forty cubic feet. The contract for the granite for the superstructure has been awarded to Albert Ordway, of Richmond, Virginia. The prices to be paid are fifty-nine cents per cubic foot for stones which do not exceed twenty cubic feet, with increase in price of nine-tenths of a cent per cubic foot for each additional cubic foot for stones, the dimensions of which exceed twenty cubic feet. The granite is to be cut at quarries and delivered here ready for use. The contractors are also required to agree to furnish the granite which may be required for the entire building for use of State, War and Navy Departments, when the construction of other portions of the building shall be sufficiently advanced for that purpose, and upon the same terms as the contract price.

THE LOAN.

Seligman & Co., of New York, subscribed to-day for two hundred thousand dollars of five per cent. bonds.

PATENTS.

During July the number of applications at the Patent Office was one thousand eight hundred and twelve, twenty-one more than in the corresponding month last year, and of that number one thousand one hundred and thirty-one patents and trade marks were issued.

THE KUKLUX COMMITTEE

adjourned to-day until the 30th of September, leaving here, as a sub-committee, Senators Pool and Blaine and Representative Buckley to examine the few witnesses now here and several others on the way hither. It is supposed the examination will be concluded this week. At the meeting in September reports will be made on the reconstruction acts and condition of the finances in the late insurrectionary States, the sub-committees having the subject in charge.

NEGRO ASSASSINS.

Andrew Curtain, a white man, while proceeding quietly home on Saturday evening, was assaulted by three colored men, who cut his throat with a razor, inflicting a fatal wound.

ST. LOUIS.

A Life Insurance Agent in Trouble—Killed By a Pickax—Military, Etc.

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—Henry A. Remington, who was arrested here last Friday, charged with embezzlement of some thirty to forty thousand dollars of New York Life Insurance Company's money while he was agent of that company, left for New York to-night in charge of one of the company's agents in this city, he expressing a willingness to stand trial on the charge.

John Kleina was killed by the falling of an embankment to-day. A large mass of earth fell on him, burying him down even with the point of a pickax which he had just driven into the ground. The pickax pushed entirely through the body, and the lower part of the abdomen, severing the artery. He died in two minutes after the pick was drawn out.

Company H, Sixth United States cavalry, Captain Sturgeon in command, from Fort Hays, Kansas, arrived here, en route to Missilesalppi.

BASE BALL.

The Game at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, July 31.—The game of base ball to-day, between the Olympics of Washington and the Olympics of Baltimore, was broken up by rain at the end of the eighth inning, the score standing 16 to 10 in favor of the Baltimore club.

ROCKFORDS VS. MUTUALS.

CHICAGO, July 31.—In the game of base ball played to-day at Rockford, between the Forest Cities of that place and the Mutuals of New York, the former were victorious by a score of 18 to 5, as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	T.
Forest Citys	6	1	0	3	5	0	0	2	0	18
Mutuals	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	4	5

The Mutuals and White Stockings play another game here to-morrow.

KENTUCKY NEWS.

Joseph Wingate, at one time Mayor of Lexington, died in that city on Sunday last.

Messrs. Fisher & Sykes, of Lexington, drew a prize of $1,000 out of the Kentucky State Lottery, a few days since.

Mr. B. R. Walker has withdrawn from the Legislative canvass in Fulton and Hickman counties. This leaves the race between Messrs. Arnold and Gleason, both Democrats.

Gen. N. P. Banks has written to Regent Bowman, of Kentucky University, for a farm wagon to be made at the "Ashland Works" and shipped to Gen. B.'s farm in Massachusetts.

The Greenville Republican says: "We are pained to learn of a serious accident which happened on yesterday, near Milligan's station, to Mr. G. B. Vaught and son. While riding with his little son, aged about eight years, upon a load of wheat bundles, near a threshing machine, on his farm, the horses attached to the wagon became frightened and unmanageable, and father and son were precipitated to the ground and under the wheels, injuring the boy so severely that he died a few hours after. Mr. Vaught's injuries are painful, but it is thought not fatal."

The Greenupsburg Independent says: "Grayson, the present terminus of the Eastern Kentucky railroad, is improving rapidly. Over a dozen new frame dwellings are being built, and, as we learn, contracts for several new store-houses have been let, with prospects of more. The day is not far distant when Grayson will be a place of considerable size and importance. Surrounded as it is by immense beds of coal and iron ore, fine timber and valuable farming land, it offers inducements to capitalists, mechanics, artisans, and men of all classes, and possesses advantages that few localities can boast of. The residents are ready and willing to do all in their power by way of encouragement to those who locate in their midst."

SOUTHERN NEWS.

An agricultural society has been organized at Abingdon, Va., and grounds purchased.

New wheat is coming rapidly into market at Kansas City, Mo., and the quality is good, and yield equal to that of last year.

The two Methodist churches, North and South, on Grand avenue, Kansas City, Mo., will be among the finest in the West when completed.

Col. Thomas Rhett, of South Carolina, is chief of ordnance of the Egyptian army, and is now engaged in constructing powder works at Cairo.

The New Orleans Times intimates that Messrs. Mace and Coburn can't fight with impunity in that vicinity. Alas, is there no city of refuge for the manly art?

The Helena (Arkansas) Clarion, a small daily, with an average of three columns of reading matter, in large type, is published at the rate of twenty-six dollars per year.

The Mount Airy (N. C.) News has an excellent as well as suggestive motto: "Independent in everything, neutral in nothing—two dollars a year, invariably in advance."

The aggregate value of Floyd county, Georgia, is $4,798,289. In iron-works, founderies, &c., she has invested $81,350. Land is valued at $2,113,543; town property, $1,142,528.

In unraveling the Savannah custom-house frauds it appears from the vouchers that one Scipio Soule, of the favored color, no doubt, performed 736 hours labor in the month of September.

The friends of Mr. Joseph Wygal, of Pulaski county, Va., are rejoicing over that gentleman's good fortune, he having recently gained a suit in Texas which constitutes him the heir of $500,000.

The Raleigh Telegram says: "A very worthy young lady of this city, but hitherto in rather indigent and obscure circumstances, has fallen heir to a cool half million, and no mistake about it."

Gov. Caldwell, of North Carolina, has gone to Robeson county, in that State, where he will meet in consultation the leading and influential citizens of both parties, in reference to the state of affairs in that unfortunate county.

The Macon (Ga.) Messenger says: "Chas. Obadiah Johnson, a notorious Griffin scalawag, has sued the Atlanta Sun for $25,000 worth of defamation of character. If he gets 25 cents he will realize at least 100 per cent. on his capital stock of that description."

The Committee on the State of the Order of the Supreme Council Friends of Temperance, assembled at Richmond, Va., recommended to the subordinate Councils of the order the propriety of frequent demonstrations, torch-light processions and lectures.

The Liberty (Va.) News says: "A negro (name unknown) met with a horrible death at Thaxton's yesterday. In the absence of the sawyer he endeavored to run the saw, and by some means unexplained to us was caught on the log and carried under to the saw and both legs sawed off. He died in great agony."

The Chattanooga Times of Sunday says: "The switch connecting the A. & C. R. R. with the N. & C. R. R., in this city, was torn up night before last by some unknown persons. The rails were left lying where they were torn up, but the pieces known as the frogs have been carried away and the damages cannot be repaired until new frogs are obtained."

Senator Spencer, of Alabama, does not abate his opposition to the appointment of ex-Senator Warner, as Collector at Mobile. He charges General Grant with duplicity, and says that at the next session of Congress he will move to reject the nomination, and that if the President is bound to attempt to run things in Alabama he will find the party pretty well divided at the next election.

The Western (N. C.) Vindicator says: "A band of eight or ten men from Mitchell county made a raid on the Marion jail recently and released some prisoners who had been convicted and imprisoned for some crime or other. The parties are all known, and are said to be of the Radical stripe of politics. A few of the citizens of Marion followed the party ten or twelve miles, but they made good their escape."

The Lynchburg Virginian says: "A little son of Mr. J. W. Raines, near Folly Mills, Augusta, about two years old, was scalded to death on Saturday last. In the house-leaning operations a kettle of boiling water was setting on the floor, into which the little fellow fell backwards, upsetting the kettle and scalding him from head to foot. He lingered till Sunday night, when death relieved him of his suffering."

The Montgomery Advertiser of Saturday says: "Albert Fink, Esq., Superintendent Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, and Vice President South and North Alabama Railroad Company, arrived in the city last evening. Mr. Fink is here in the interest of the South and North Alabama railroad, and is stopping at the Exchange. The presence of Mr. Fink in our city means business and is an omen of good to our city."

The Macon (Georgia) Messenger says: "The Chronicle and Sentinel says there are over one hundred youths from that vicinity now students in colleges in other States, not including fifteen or twenty receiving an education in Canada." We entirely agree with that paper that "this fact points to the necessity of having a single well-endowed institution, which will command the respect and compel the patronage of our own citizens."

Seven miles from Lexington, Virginia, on the road to Staunton, stands an old and venerable edifice known as "The Timber Ridge Church." It was built in the year 1756, nineteen years before the revolutionary war. It is built of rough stone, and has a double arched entrance. The sand which was used in its construction was carried by women, on pack mules, from South river, six miles distant, the men being constantly occupied fighting the Indians.

The Christiansburg (Va.) Messenger is not willing to give in to the Tennessee snake stories. The Messenger tells this: "A turkey-gobbler belonging to Mr. R. D. Montague, of this place, some weeks ago took a strange fancy into his head, made himself a nest, gathered into it four apples, and went regularly to 'setting.' His performances on the nest are truly feminine and hen-like. He permits no disturbance of his incubations, but when approached ruffles his feathers, pokes out his head, blows, and puts on an aspect fierce and terrible to behold. At last accounts he was still setting, but with what prospect of hatching his apples, is not known."

SENATOR MORTON was kind enough to tell Kentucky in his speech the other night how she can become great, prosperous and happy. His method is too long to repeat here; but the Canadian's receipt for making delicious gingerbread, which is exactly like it, is short, and we give that instead: "Git your ginger; melt molases till it biles over; melt some butter till it's thin; stir it through the molases candy; multiply by wet sugar; thrash some clover and maryander seed and grind them in the hopper (clean out the hopper ready to grind coffee for breakfast, by running a few corn meal through it); git a 12 lb. sack of flour on a credit; 2 cups of sour oil of Kine; beat somebody out of the eggs; beat the eggs; strain them to substract the shells. Line the pan with red flannel, saturated with equal parts of coal tar and strong butter, and pour the mixture in. Bake with a slow fuse."

A gentleman in London, writing of the new California poet to a friend in Boston, says: "Relinquishing the 'express business,' MILLER next hoisted his shingle as 'attorney at law,' and was elected a judge by the people, which office he held for some two or three years with an honorable record, both as a judge and as a citizen. It is hardly possible he could have edited a paper, as report has it, for his education had been quite meager, extending only to a few months' schooling in a log hut. When he became 'attorney' he had literally no book education." A man with but a few months' schooling, and that in a lug hut, may be a judge and acquit himself with honor in that position, but it is impossible for him to edit a newspaper, even in the wilds of Oregon. There is a good deal of truth in this. Almost anybody can be a judge—at least one would think so when he remembers that even AKERMAN himself was once a judge; but before one can distinguish himself as the editor of a newspaper it is absolutely necessary that he should know how to read, and he will attain eminence in his profession all the sooner if he happens to know how to write a little also.

The Beck-Needham Fight.

By this time our readers have had opportunity to read and digest Mr. NEEDHAM's second letter in reply to Mr. BECK. These gentlemen are as wide apart as the poles, both as to their facts and the inferences which they draw from them. We would like to see them nearer together. If both are honest and well-meaning, and are really truth-seeking, there ought to be no great difficulty in coming to an agreement about a mere matter of facts and figures. But alas! both are politicians, and so both take partisan hold, and both make it their business to stir up such a cloud of dust that the more we read of their writings and speeches the less we seem to learn.

The cost of Tice meters and the price of distillery locks are two of the points about which they differ and over which they wrangle most unseemly. We feel no mortification in confessing that these are matters concerning which we are absolutely in the dark. Nor is it a subject which we care to explore. Our time is too valuable for such trifles. There are great national questions and important local questions and any number of practical live issues which are better worth study and discussion, and we will be heartily glad when two such powerful minds as those of Mr. BECK and Mr. NEEDHAM shall quit this region of little things and enter upon the consideration of larger problems.

But to their credit be it said the discussion is by no means confined to these low matters. They are also in dispute about the national bank question. At present, however, there is no need to quarrel about this, since, as the law now stands, Kentucky has the opportunity of obtaining additional note circulation, if her bankers will apply for it. The reason it is not applied for is, that so far as the profits of banking are concerned, the national system possesses very little, if any, advantages over the State system. The harvest afforded to the beneficiaries of the national bank law has been reaped, and Mr. BECK is quite right in saying that it was a truly golden one. The original national banks have indeed made inordinate profits. But owing to an improvement in the condition of the national finances, so far at least as the banking business is concerned, the national banking law has been shorn of some of its worst features. On the other hand again, Mr. NEEDHAM speaks truly when he says that if Kentucky has not duly participated in the fruits of the change from the old to the new system of banking, she must blame not the National Government, but the short-sighted policy and deficient enterprise of the managers of her banking institutions. The truth is, the national banking system has never been popular in Kentucky, and no amount of opportunity would have induced our leading banks to adopt it. Moreover, they have allowed their prejudices to blind them to their true interests, and our advice to them now is to seek to repair a portion of their losses by promptly accepting the full amount of additional circulation to which this State is entitled under the new law.

In our opinion, Mr. NEEDHAM exaggerates the benefits to the country by the act of 1870 reducing taxes on manufactures, &c. Nevertheless we applaud the act, for any reduction of taxes just now is a most welcome boon. But in this case the reduction was to a great extent more apparent than real, and that is why, we suspect, the Kentucky delegation voted against the act. They wanted a real reduction, they wanted a law entirely free from every trace of jobbery and humbug. It is very easy to understand why a manufacturing State like Massachusetts should be zealously in favor of a repeal of all such internal taxes as added to the cost of their goods. Of this character were the taxes which the internal revenue laws imposed on manufactured goods, on licenses, sales and the like. The effect of such laws was to neutralize the advantages arising from high tariff duties. So long as the internal revenue system harmonized with the external system, protective duties were of little avail. Hence, all those in the East, whose capital was invested in branches of industry which derived protection under the tariff, would naturally clamor loudly for just such a law as that which Mr. NEEDHAM would have us believe was wholly in the interest of the over-burdened tax-payer. So far as it went the act repealing internal revenue taxes may have been well enough, but it stopped widely short of a just and equitable arrangement. In order to have given it the character of a boon to the consumer, it should have included a reduction of tariff taxes corresponding to the relief it afforded the dosmestic manufacturer. This would have been a real reform. We should then have had our goods at lower prices, and in that way had a portion of our taxes remitted. But merely to take off internal revenue taxes and leave the tariff duties unchanged was not necessarily a benefit to the consumer. As it could not have the effect of lowering the price of imported goods, it allowed the domestic producer to keep his prices to the old notch, and enabled him to increase his profits by the amount of the remitted tax. Thus in reality the repeal act, which Mr. NEEDHAM extols with so much patriotic unction, was, in its main features, a grand lobby swindle, a bold and cunning contrivance of the insatiable monopolists who have shaped and controlled the fiscal legislation of the nation for the past ten years. Mr. BECK was keen-sighted enough to see the trap, say rather the fraud, and very properly he voted in opposition to an arrangement which, under the pretense of reducing taxes, was in reality concocted for the express purpose of legislating a still further sum into the pockets of a rich and influential few.

We have no space left to speak of that remarkable free list which continues to give so much delight to the soul of Mr. NEEDHAM. Only the other day we pointed out wherein this free list was no boon to the tax-payer, but a base fraud of the enemy, having no other object and but little other effect than to increase the power of certain favored interests, to extort still larger gains from the community. But, since Mr. NEEDHAM is still in love with the subject, we feel it incumbent upon us to make it the text of a future article. Mr. NEEDHAM finds the subject full of enchantment. To us it is a wicked trick and nothing more.

In August.

The gay season is in its prime, and everybody of degree or ton is off in the country or down by the side of the sea. Only the ignobile vulgus and the impecunious remain at home. The pork trade is stagnant, and Mr. and Mrs. HEDGEHOG are away enjoying themselves. The courts have their vacation, and the bench, removed to the rural watering-place, is converted into a card-table for the delectation of the judge and the gentlemen of the bar. There is no life anywhere in the city; for even those that stay at home keep their shutters closed. It is very sad.

JENNIE JUNE tells us, in her last epistle, that Saratoga misses the brilliant Southern women that used to throng that expensive and aristocratic resort, and Mr. MORRISSEY assures us he has lost money by the absence of the jolly dogs of the South that were erst among his most liberal patrons. That was a rare old era of good living and good-fellowship when the South had plenty of money and Congress Hall seemed to be a nook in the enchanted garden; when a man might put a bullet through his rival or light his cigarette with a bank-note with equal abandon and impunity; when breach-of-promise suits were unknown and a girl might have a dozen lovers; when the "demnition total" of existence was gambling and flirting, and a body cared little whether school kept or not. But it is past and gone. The most beautiful of women is now the most serious of housewives. The graceful and agreeable scamp who bet his thousands "on nary par" is settled into a most orthodox and matter-of-fact man of business. Shoddy now rules the roost at Saratoga, and the vagaries of the South are succeeded by the follies of the North—there being but this difference between the two: that, whilst the second generation of Southern men spent their money like princes, the nouveaux riche of the North spend theirs like plebeians.

Even the chastisements of fortune are not without a certain compensating grace. The South led a wayward,—and all in all we take it,—a misguided course of careless and devil-go-easy self-indulgence, and its festa came to an end. The end was passionately sorrowful and desperately hard to bear; but it was the inevitable destiny of all mortal excess. Venice and Tyre were not surer of reaching their doom than New Orleans and Charleston. All of us know about the whirligig of time. Well, the South is down and the North is up, and we see the same riot. Mr. FISK is a very pretty divinity of his class, and we dare say the revel is boisterous enough to furnish a pretty sharp lesson.

There has been a deal of nonsense about the relative morals of the North and South. We take it that human nature under similar conditions is very much alike the world over. The next generation of Northern spendthrifts will not vary the features a great deal of the last generation of Southern dawdlers.

The present race of Southerners are disposed to stay at home, and quite a number of local watering-places are coming into vogue. There are more of these about Louisville than about any other city—Grayson, Paroquet, Rockcastle, Crab Orchard, Bedford and West Baden, all flourishing and attractive resorts. It is not unlikely that these will gradually supplant the famous haunts of the North and East and that we shall ultimately have at our door-sill an establishment as splendid and complete as those at Newport, Long Branch and Saratoga. The mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee present superior advantages for such an establishment, and there is every reason to expect that as the South gets money its necessities and predilections will secure one or more.

Narrow-gauge Railroads.

We have printed much and have read much more in favor of narrow-gauge railroads. We have read little and have printed less against them. The average newspaper editor is not the best judge as to the superiority of this sort of road or that, but the editor of the New York Globe, whose evident intention it is to die like DESCARTES, leaving nothing unexplained, goes for what he calls "the narrow-gauge humbug" thus:

The gullibility of human nature is proverbial, but the shrewdness of capitalists is also proverbial, and it is, therefore, a matter of surprise that so many people have been found to take stock in the latest of humbugs—the narrow-gauge railways. But there is nothing too great for the credulous, and so we have the country running running wild after this new-fangled notion.

The great argument for the narrow-gauge road is economy of cost, to secure which several limitations as to weight of rolling stock and track, rate of speed and stability of work are submitted to. Now it can be demonstrated that the same limitations being imposed on a gauge of four feet eight inches, which make the three-feet gauge possible, this economy of cost sinks into a non-appreciable amount. In other words, if trains are run on the wider gauge at the reduced rate of speed incident to the narrow, the weight of stock and rail, the sharpness of curves, and the cheapness of construction can be accomplished equally as well. In several instances this has been already tried; notably in the road running on wooden rails into the iron region of the Adirondack from the North, which has now been in operation several years.

There are also several roads at the West constructed in the same way. The breaking of gauge, which costs much more than what it is possible to save in construction, is an insuperable objection to the narrow gauge, and it cannot prevail. Enough capital has been lost in the war of the gauges, and it would be well for the people of any section desiring railway communication to look sharp before they are hoodwinked with the delusive idea that a pound of iron costs any less on a narrow-gauge railway than it does on the wider gauge, or that a road-bed three feet wide will sustain more in proportion to its cost than a bed a foot and a half wider. And it would be well to bear in mind that the same weight of rail, the same weight of rolling-stock, and the same rate of speed will accomplish more on the four-foot-eight gauge than on the narrower. Or the proposition may be put in another way. Under the same limitations, the expenditure of money in the construction of the wider gauge is more judicious, and will prove more effective, than in building on the narrower. If any one doubts these statements let him investigate. It is to challenge investigation before money has been foolishly spent that this article has been written.

The opinion of such men as the late General BOYLE, who knew a railroad when he saw it, is perhaps worth almost as much as that of the Globe, and they tell a very different story. Last Sunday week nearly nine hundred miles of road between Cincinnati and St. Louis, including side tracks, switches, etc., were gone over by a force of nearly two thousand men and converted from a broad into a narrow gauge, and that, too, at a cost, including that of the necessary new rolling stock, of $1,700,000. But if the New York Globe is to be believed, the owners of the Ohio and Mississippi railroad have made fools of themselves. The narrow gauge can prevail, and will prevail.

☞ The New York Sun thinks that inasmuch as FRED GRANT was schooled and clothed and fed for four years by the people of the United States, he should do something for them in return. We can't see what he could do in return, unless he would induce his father to hire a substitute and go back to the hide and leather business in Galena.

☞ It is again reported that Secretary ROBESON is about to be married. It is said this time that he is going to marry a widow. As there are some widows who are so anxious to marry that they are willing to take almost anybody, there is, at least, a possibility that the report is true.

☞ A Macon temperance advocate, who says that a man who will sell intoxicating liquors will steal, has been challenged to fight a duel by an Atlanta saloon-keeper. We would suggest that they try to drink each a half pint of Cincinnati whisky, and see which dies first in the attempt.

☞ "Don't marry for money," says a New York paper. It certainly is wrong to marry for money. But you should always be careful to marry into a family where there is money enough to confirm the suspicion that money is what you married for.

☞ The Washington Star says "that arrangements are on foot to start a new journal in this city on the 1st of September, which shall be the especial champion of Southern Republicans." We presume it will be called The Trooly Loil Scalawag.

☞ Mr. STEPHENS says he has no indisposition to answer any and all questions that may be put to him. Then, Mr. STEPHENS, "Suppose you were shut up all night in a tower with a small baby, what would you do?"

☞ Mr. STEPHENS is a native of Georgia, but from the number of italics he uses in his editorials, one would naturally suppose that he was born and raised in the heart of Italy.

☞ The Richmond Whig says we should do unto the negro as we would have the negro do unto us. Confound it, Whig, would you have us black the negro's boots?

☞ The New York Sun asks: "Will GRANT survive the blow?" We hope not. He has survived too many blows already.

CITY ITEMS.

Brides and Bridegrooms, Attention! Don't think that you will be able to enjoy the full delights of a wedding-tour without one of D. O'Hare's Bridal Trunks, No. 142 Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ Wintersmith's Tonic Sirup or Improved Chill Cure is meeting with extraordinary success. It never fails when properly taken to cure the most obstinate case of fever and ague. For sale by all druggists.

☞ One of the curiosities of our city that all strangers should visit is D. O'Hare's great Trunk Manufactory and Emporium, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth. Go and see it, by all means, whether you wish to purchase or not.

☞ There is but one trunk that will stand railroad travel, and that is the celebrated Russia Zinc Trunk, manufactured and sold wholesale and retail at D. O'Hare's, 142 Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ Chapped hands and face cured by using JUNIPER TAR SOAP, made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York.

☞ The celebrated Russia zinc trunk, that bids defiance to railroad travel, is the greatest invention of the age; manufactured and sold by D. O'Hare, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ If you want the best and cheapest article, go to the largest dealer, at D. O'Hare's headquarters, 142 Main street. The immense sale of trunks of his own manufacture enables him to undersell all competitors.

☞ Don't throw away your old trunks, but send them to D. O'Hare's Great Western Trunk Manufactory and have them made as good as new. 142 Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ The A No. XX sole leather valise, copper-riveted edge and improved steel springs, at D. O'Hare's trunk house, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Southern Merchants, look to your interests and pack your goods in trunks, and save the loss on packing-boxes. The boxes, you will remember, are a dead loss, while you can sell the trunks to a profit. You are invited to call and examine the stock. To those who purchase to sell again, a liberal deduction will be made from the lowest trade wholesale price. Remember the place, D. O'HARE'S, 142 Main street, between Fourth and Fifth, Louisville, Ky.

WINTERSMITH'S GREAT REMEDIES, the best medicines of the age. For sale by W. H. Sutton, druggist, corner of Fourteenth and Jefferson. jy30 d6

Don't Waste Your Time in Wandering Around
among second and third-class dealers, but if you want a trunk or anything in that line go to headquarters, at D. O'Hare's, on Main street, No. 142 between Fourth and Fifth, where you can select from a stock of 5,000, and only pay the lowest wholesale price for a single trunk.

Remember
that, in purchasing your trunks from D. O'Hare's trunk manufactory, you get the article at first hands, and do not have to pay two or three profits. It must not be supposed that his stock is limited to trunks; it embraces everything that a traveler may need in the shape of satchels, valises, traveling bags, bonnet boxes, &c., &c. Remember the place—D. O'Hare's, 142 Main st., between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ See advertisement of Dr. Butts' Dispensary, headed "Book for the Million—Marriage Guide," in another column. It should be read by all. au9 d&w1y

Something New.
The newest and best thing now on the market is the Russian zinc traveling trunk, manufactured and sold by D. O'Hare. Neither water, lightning, nor hotel porters can affect them. They are not only far superior to the best sole-leather trunks, but they are at least 50 per cent. cheaper.

If you want a Trunk that you can throw out of a four-story window without injury, call on D. O'Hare, at his Trunk Emporium, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth, and get one of his Solid English Sole-leather Trunks. There is no discount on them.

How to Protect Your Trunk from Breaking.
One of the greatest necessities of this age of constant travel is a trunk which will not break, and which will not cut its way through anything which it comes down upon. This is fully accomplished by the India-rubber trunk shield, which must be seen to be appreciated. Manufactured and sold wholesale and retail by D. O'Hare, 142 Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Look to Your Interests and buy where you can buy the cheapest, and that is at D. O'Hare's Great Trunk Manufactory, Main street, No. 142, between Fourth and Fifth, where he is retailing his immense stock at wholesale New York prices.

Burnett's Cooking Extracts are the best.

Trunks of Any Size or Quality, old or new, can be fitted with the newly-invented India-rubber Trunk Shield on short notice at D. O'Hare's great trunk emporium, No. 142 south side Main street, between Fourth and Fifth. The railroad men say they are the greatest invention of the day, and that nothing short of a general smash-up of a train can injure them in the slightest degree.

DIED.

SHIPP—On Tuesday, the 25th ult., at Owensboro, Ky., NANNIE B. SHIPP, daughter of Jas. W. and Mary Shipp, in the 15th year of her age.

OBITUARY.

Another shaft from the arrow of death has fallen in our midst, and this time little SUSIE, the pet of the household, and infant daughter of John E. and F. Emma McKittrick, was its victim. On Saturday, July 15th, she was taken with erysipelas, and her suffering was intense all through her sickness. On Friday, July 21st, the good Shepherd, in mercy for His little lamb, released her from her sufferings, and took her home. For five months little SUSIE had brightened the hearts and home of her parents, and, as the tiny dew-drop only lingers a short time to refreshen and beautify the flower, so their darling, having fulfilled her mission on earth, has gone to her home beyond the clouds, as a stray gleam of sunshine that flits across our pathway for a moment and is gone.

Be still, sad hearts; cease thy repining;
Behind the clouds the sun's still shining;
Thy fate is the common fate of all;
Into every life some rain must fall.

WHEELER—At his residence, in Trimble county, Ky., at 1 o'clock A. M., Tuesday, July 25, 1871, of congestive fever, JOSHUA WHEELER, aged 64 years.

The subject of the above notice was pre-eminently a good man. Combining all the qualities which make life replete with honor and credit, he died as he had lived, a pious, a charitable, and a Christian man. Quiet in his demeanor, intelligent in thought, and fully comprehensive of man's duty to his God and to his fellow-man, without that display which characterizes the world, JOSHUA WHEELER was, in the fullest degree, a friend and a brother.

For thirty years, we believe, he was a leading member of the Methodist Church, a zealous and untiring Christian. Possessed of a heart ever responsive to the calls of charity, he became, proverbially, the poor man's friend. Nor were his deeds of charity confined to individuals. Church and other societies, having for their object the promotion of religion and education, received munificently at his hands, and it was the honest conviction of an honest heart that prompted him to give.

Years had tested his fidelity to truth and honesty, and had endeared him to his family, his friends, and to his neighbors, and now that he is gone full many a heart will be pained and saddened to feel that his place among men is made vacant and cannot be filled.

His sickness was of short duration, but violent in the extreme, and his death so sudden and unlooked for, has cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood.

He leaves a Christian wife, imbued with all of the good qualities he possessed himself, to mourn his death, together with a large family of children and grandchildren.

We tender to them our sympathy in their sad bereavement. They will find consolation in the knowledge of his good works and deeds, which will live after him, and we trust that the spirit of emulation may enter deeply into their hearts.
H. G. D.
Westport, Ky., July 30th, 1871.

STORMED AND TAKEN!
The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,
floats triumphant over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair-coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

$100,000 Bonds of Haywood County, Tenn.,
FOR SALE BY THE Merchants' Bank of Kentucky.
THESE Bonds were issued in payment of subscription by the county to the stock of the Holly Springs, Brownsville, and Ohio Railroad Company, by authority of an act of the Legislature, after submission to a vote of the county. Their validity has also been established by proceedings carried through the courts for that purpose. The value of real and personal estate in the county, as shown by the U. S. census returns for 1870, is $17,184,118.
The county has no other debt, and is not likely to create any other for railroad purposes.
A levy of tax has already been made sufficient to pay the first year's interest and retire five per cent. of the whole issue. The bonds have twenty years to run, bear interest at eight per cent. per annum, and are offered at a price which makes them yield over ten per cent. per annum. J. H. LINDENBERGER, Cashier.

PROFESSIONAL.

WE, the undersigned, take pleasure in adding our testimony to the merits of Dr. C. B. NORRIS as a thoroughly scientific Oculist and Aurist.

During his residence in the city of Memphis, now over four years, he has been called to treat many intricate diseases of both the eye and ear. Devoting his whole time and earnest study to these specialties alone, he has obtained a proficiency in the art of their special and peculiar management which is seldom attained in these branches of medical science, and we have no hesitancy in saying that all persons afflicted with these specific maladies could do no better than to place themselves under his charge, morally confident that his specific remedies will guarantee in every instance (when he promises) a radical cure.

CITY ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
LOUISVILLE, KY., July 27, 1871.
SEALED proposals will be received at the office of the City Engineer until 12 o'clock M. Wednesday, August 2nd, 1871, to execute the following work, viz:
To improve forty feet in width of Baxter avenue, from the north side of Bridge street to the north side of Broadway street, excepting the space occupied by the rails and timber of the street railway, by grading, curbing, block-paving the gutters and paving the carriage-way with Telford-McAdam pavement.
To improve Marshall street, from the east side of Clay street to the west side of Shelby street, by recurbing and repaving the gutters on both sides with block stone.
To improve the unpaved portions of Broadway, from the east side of Eighteenth street, north of Broadway, extending west 200 feet to the west side of Eighteenth street, south of Broadway, if extended, excepting twenty-five (25) feet on each side for sidewalks, by grading, curbing, sub-paving and block-paving the gutters and paving the carriage-way with McAdam pavement.
The above work will be done according to the general ordinances regulating the same.
Bond with approved security required, and separate bids on the blank forms furnished by the City Engneer required for each piece of work.
The city reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
The work will be let by contract on the said 2d day of August, 1871, if permission is not granted before that time to the owners of ground liable to be assessed for the said improvements to do the same themselves.
Persons owning ground fronting the proposed improvement can contract for making the same, and can obtain copies of the ordinance regulating the work at the City Engineer's office.

PAROQUET SPRINGS.
THIS justly celebrated property having been purchased by a Louisville company, has been improved and embellished until it is now equal to any watering place in the country.
A large two-story hotel, containing capacious dining and the largest and most elegant ball-rooms in the State, with large and well-ventilated sleeping apartments, sufficient to accommodate five hundred guests, with upper and lower porches extending around the entire building, will be opened for the reception of guests on the 15th of July.
The grounds, containing over one hundred acres, amply shaded with beautiful forest trees, which are neatly trimmed, form a charming rustic plateau, which no other resort in the country can claim.
The medical properties of this water are unsurpassed, the sulphur well being one of the largest and strongest on the continent.
Salt river, near these springs, furnishes ready facilities for aquatic sports, the fishing being equal to any in the State. Elegant new boats are furnished for the use of guests.
The best roads offer every inducement for driving and riding. Billiards, ten-pins, swings, croquet, and all other innocent amusements will be furnished. One of the best brass and string bands will be in attendance during the season.
Paroquet Springs are situated eighteen miles from Louisville, on the main stem of L. & N. R. R., and is the most accessible resort in the State. It is the only place where the pleasure of a summer resort can be had without interfering with business, as the merchant, mechanic and clerk can leave the hot, dusty city in the evening, and return refreshed to the city in the morning.

GRAYSON SPRINGS, KENTUCKY.
GRAYSON SPRINGS, Grayson county, are situated seventy miles south of Louisville, and about two and a half from the Elizabethtown and Paducah railroad.
There are over a hundred springs in the grounds, but of these only fifteen or twenty are ready for use. Those who have visited these springs do not require any statement of the curative properties of the waters, and a short residence will soon convince strangers of their value.
Since the proprietors have come into possession of the grounds, they have been steadily employed in improving and embellishing them. Since last September they have built a splendid three-story block of cottages, 220 feet long, and containing about fifty rooms, with porches back and front; twenty cottage rooms, a new bath-house, with ten bath-rooms, eight for regular baths, and two for shower baths, with dressing-rooms attached to each.
Among the facilities for amusements are added croquet-ground, a billiard-saloon and bowling-alleys, pleasantly situated. A good brass band will furnish music for the ball-room during the watering season.
Every preparation has been made for the adequate entertainment of the anticipated large number of visitors this season, and on a scale equal to any watering-place in or out of the State. The servants are reliable and attentive.
The morning train on the Louisville and Nashville road will reach the Grayson Springs Depot, on the Elizabethtown and Paducah road, at 12:25 P. M., and the noon train at 4 o'clock P. M. The Southern road also connects with the Elizabethtown and Paducah road at Elizabethtown. A line of omnibuses, hacks, etc., will always be ready to carry passengers from and to Grayson Springs.
M. P. CLARKSON will be on hand, as usual, to welcome his old friends.

KENTUCKY MILITARY INSTITUTE,
SIX MILES FROM FRANKFORT, KY.
THE faculty is composed of superior men in every department. Course of study such as to thoroughly fit those who take it for any calling in life, and it is most thoroughly taught. To the benefit of a full collegiate course is added the discipline, instruction, and drill of the military school.
Located in a quiet, healthy country, so far distant from town as to place the young men beyond the manifold temptations which ordinarily attend college life.
The students all board in the barracks, and are kept under rigid military discipline. There are no temptations to extravagance or dissipation.
This school has combined the discipline of the camp with the comforts and pleasures of home life, which can hardly be found elsewhere.
The twenty-sixth academic year will begin on Monday, September 4th, 1871.

COURIER-JOURNAL

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 1, '71.

SMALL TALK.

P. S. GILMORE is getting up a World's P. S. Jubilee.

J. HAMPDEN CHAMBERLAYNE edits the Petersburg Index and lends it the influence of his name.

A NEW YORK letter says there are one thousand families in that city who each spend $30,000 a year.

A LADY correspondent at Long Branch writes of Jim Fisk and the "invalid expression on his broad, open mug."

IT is not known whether Treasurer Spinner will return from Europe soon. His signature is doing as well as could be expected.

J. SCHUYLER COLFAX has written another letter. He proposes to discourage Milwaukee by his presence some time this month.

THE Orangemen of England have denounced Gladstone as "no patriot, no Englishman, no Protestant, and a disgrace to the country."

THE San Francisco Chronicle says: "Right or wrong, politic or impolitic, the people of California and the Pacific Coast, irrespective of party, have determined to prevent Chinese immigration by every legal means in their power."

AN Indiana paper says: "If the party who plays the accordeon in this vicinity at nights will only change his tune occasionally, or sit where we can scald him when the engine is at steam on, he will hear of something to his advantage."

A LONE BRANCH correspondent thus concludes an account of a fight for a kiss: "She fought fair, however, and when she could fight no longer for want of breath, she yielded handsomely. Her arms fell down by her side—her hair fell back over her shoulders—her eyes closed, and there lay a little plump mouth all in the air. Gracious! did you ever see a bevy pounce on a robin? or a lion upon a clover top? I need not say more. What a beautiful picture for a painter."

THE New York Herald says of the recent hanging of two negroes in Virginia: "The display, though so long delayed, lost none of its interesting horrors; for they both died hard and struggled to the full satisfaction of the assembled witnesses. It added something of a zest to the occasion to know that the evidence upon which they were convicted was rather inconclusive, and that many of the individuals in the crowd who were posted upon the facts of the murder expressed the opinion that the real murderers had not been taken."

PROF. DEHANEY—otherwise George Hillgina, we suppose—a one-legged acrobatic performer, startled the citizens of Cumminsville, on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, by walking a tight rope across the public square, one hundred and five or thirty feet from the ground. He first walked with the natural and the wooden leg, and then took it off, in mid-air, and baked some cakes on a little stove fastened to the rope. He successfully accomplished all the usual feats in a tight-rope performance, and was greeted by various contributions from the spectators, amounting to about thirty dollars.—Cin. Com.

THOMAS JEFFERSON wrote of Marie Antoinette: "This angel, so gaudily painted in the rhapsodies of Burke, with some smartness of fancy, but no sound sense, was proud, disdainful of restraint, indignant at all obstacles to her will, eager in the pursuit of pleasure, and there enough to hold to her desires or perish in the wreck. Her inordinate gambling and dissipations with those of the Count d'Artois and others of her clique had been a sensible item in the exhaustion of the treasury which called into action the reformishpand of the nation; and her opposition to those reformations was a degree of reckless spirit, led herself to the guillotine, drew the King on with her, and plunged the world into crimes and calamities which will forever stain the pages of modern history."

A St. LOUIS REPUBLICAN Long Branch letter tells this of a fashionable woman: "Less than twelve months ago she, being then single, extremely fashionable and gay, visited a New York man connected with the New York judiciary. After a few months of wedded bliss there came to the surface ripples of a very harrowing nature; clouds and storm ensued. A divorce speedily became the only panacea for the sentimental ills, and as the shoemaker can get his shoes out of his own shop, so the bride helped himself to a deed of separation from his reserved stock, and once more the pair went back, as nearly as they could, to the condition they occupied a few months before. Here comes the funny part of it. The judicial gentleman had a brother. Since Mr. Stock is entirely out of the matrimonial question for Mr. Acorn, many men have had brothers willing to do much for their kith and kin. This brother did more. He went for his quondam sister-in-law, and before the ink was dry on the deed of divorce he married his brother's wife, and the latter hoisted went to the wedding and presented his recent spouse a splendid bouquet. In a dozen days thereafter both the brothers, and the woman who has been wife and sister to each by turns, sat placidly witnessing a play at Wallack's, and at the hop of Saturday they were talking anxiously of the probable appearance of the judge on Sunday."

OHIO COUNTY.

The Congressional Institute and Its Success—Go-Aheadativeness.

[Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

HARTFORD, Ohio Co., Ky., July 29, 1871.

The second of the teachers' institutes appointed to be held in each Congressional district convened at the court-house in this place on Monday last, and has continued its sessions from day to day until yesterday. Over fifty of the teachers of this county have been in constant attendance, and the able Commissioner of Schools, W. T. Gregory, Esq., has reason to congratulate himself upon his entire success in the organization of this the first institute ever held in this county. Several of the most distinguished teachers of the State have been present and have contributed to make the exercises of a highly interesting and varied nature.

The day sessions have been largely attended by the citizens of Hartford, and they have come out en masse to hear the more formal lectures at night. This institute can hardly fail to give a powerful impetus to the cause of popular education in this county, and has been a complete demonstration of the wisdom of Hon. D. F. Smith, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in inaugurating a movement that must be of the utmost consequence in shaping the future educational policy of the State. The conduct of Prof. Gregory as Mr. Gregory has been cordially aided by all the teachers of the county, and especially has that veteran instructor, Prof. Frank Griffin, been of service in giving interest to the week's work. Mr. Griffin has taught in Hartford over thirty years, and is still zealous in the great cause to which he has devoted his best powers.

Ohio county is much more than an average, not only in its schools and extent of territory, but in many of the elements which go to make up the wealth of the State. It contains some of the finest coal in the world in almost inexhaustible quantities, and an inexhaustible supply of good iron ore. Rough creek takes its products to the Green river, and thence to the Ohio. The E. and P. railroad passes within four miles of Hartford, and the county is about to vote for an air-line from Louisville to Memphis. This road should be put through at once, as it would develop the immense mineral wealth along the whole line, and contribute powerfully towards making Louisville the mighty metropolis she is destined to become.

TEACHER.

TO TEXAS.

The Empire Country Calling for Communication with Louisville.

[Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

SEGUIN, Guadalupe County, TEXAS, July 26, 1871.

I have been traveling through Eastern Texas for two weeks. A portion of the country is suffering for rain at present, especially in the sandy soil, which does not stand the drouth like the black land. Cotton is looking as well as I ever saw it. Early corn has suffered some, and the crop will necessarily be light, though there is a good deal more planted than last year, and less cotton by at least one-third. I am glad to find that it is the disposition of everybody to raise more grain and less cotton. It takes eight bushels of corn to pay the cotton crop into market. Hundreds of wagons are passing this point every day loaded for the interior. Owing to the advance in cotton, it has been a great advantage to some of the merchants this year that they were not able to get their cotton into market early.

I am glad to find that the people are at last manifesting some interest in railroads. Jefferson is leading off by voting a tax of three hundred thousand dollars to assist in building a branch road to intersect the Trans-continental road at Texarkana, which will be a continuation of the Cairo and Fulton railroad, which will give us a through route to northeastern Texas via Memphis and Little Rock. It is the opinion of the officers of this line that it will be in running order to Paris by the 1st of July next. If so, it will give us a trade of millions immediately. No one can possibly appreciate the necessity of railroad transportation in this country until they have seen the amount of produce raised and the number of men it takes from the farms—at least one-third of the men and stock.

This is bound to be the empire State of the South, and I do sincerely hope that Louisville will make an effort to hold the trade that it has until railroad communication can be established. We are making a pretty good show in this place to-day, as there are eight of us here, several Galveston men, several from St. Louis and New Orleans. Our strongest competition for the trade will be with St. Louis, as they have a regular line of boats to Jefferson. I have been assured that we are to have a boat every Saturday from Louisville this fall, beginning the 1st of September. This will benefit us a great deal; but if the merchants of Louisville had put on a regular weekly packet one year ago the boats would have paid for themselves before this time, and we would have had more than double the trade that we have. I think they will see that I was right very soon; my hope is that they will see it before it is entirely too late.

☞ Mrs. Bloomer, the originator of the costume for women which still bears her name, and one of the pioneers, if not the pioneer, in the woman's rights movement, is now said to be living quietly, without either social or political ambition, in a rising Kansas town, engaged in attending to a large family and a flourishing farm.

SENATOR MORTON.

What He Thinks of Kentucky—As it Was and as it Is—The Prospect Before us.

A Railroad Sketch.

[Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

INDIANAPOLIS, July 29, 1871.

"You referred, in your speech last night, to the fact that Kentucky was the second State admitted into the Union; how do you account for her having fallen so far behind other States in commercial rank and importance?"

This is the question which was gravely propounded to Senator Morton, in my hearing, this afternoon. Now, in my vocation as correspondent, I have enjoyed the enviable distinction of being attested with confidence; but, you know, to a news-writer there is a charm about getting at what people think, second only to the passion for the chase, and, to guard myself against temptation in this instance, I arose to go, when the speaker, divining my motive, perhaps, said to me: "Do not leave us."

"You are getting political," I laughingly answered, "and I shall be sure to tell what you say."

"Don't care if you do."

"No," added another gentleman, "we shan't say anything all the world—mayn't we?"

Considering myself then a party, by favor, to an interview, I had the pleasure of listening to a spirited conversation, the merit of which I am powerless to transcribe in a letter.

"How do you account for Kentucky being behind hand?" repeated the interlocutor.

"The institution of slavery kept Kentucky back," promptly responded Senator Morton.

"The young men of Kentucky were trained to think labor was dishonorable, and that the only honorable occupations were the professions, political life, and carrying on plantations by slave labor."

"Do you think that is the only cause of Kentucky's short-coming?"

"No. Kentucky has been afflicted with too much politics for the last fifty years. The people of Kentucky have devoted their time, almost exclusively, to politics, and paid too little attention to business."

"How far back do you trace the disadvantages of Kentucky?"

"Now, nearly eighty years. The resolutions of '98 were like poison put into the veins of a child and have dwarfed the manhood of the State. It's a little singular that States which have been devoted to the doctrine of State sovereignty and State rights, in what we regard as the offensive sense, have not flourished.

IMMIGRATION ALWAYS AVOIDS SMALL SOVEREIGNTIES.

Virginia and South Carolina rejoiced in their independent sovereignty, and in the contemplation of their own greatness, and in the superiority of their blood, while the world swept around them, and they finally woke up to find themselves in bankruptcy, and their people had thinned out in population and wealth, and that they had lost the balance of power forever."

"You do not mean to apply this state of selfishness ruin to Kentucky?"

"No. Kentucky has had a new birth, and as I heard a gentleman say, is, in matter of fact, only about seven years old. Her age up to the time of the abolition of slavery, and the breaking up of the old order of things, need hardly be counted. Like a man who has had fifty years of his manhood stolen as a witness, upon being asked his age, he said he was 'twenty.' Some doubt being suggested, he said the first thirty years of his life were spent in the Eastern shore of Maryland, and he didn't count that.

"Kentucky has now started forward in a new career of wealth and population, and when her highways and old fences shall have been displaced by generous and liberal sentiments and policy, her growth will be more rapid than the friends of it dream of."

"Can this be done without a struggle? Are not the odds of prosperity against the Southern States in general?"

"Unquestionably. While the Southern States will hereafter grow and prosper with a rapidity they have never known before, yet they have lost so much time and have gotten behind in the race, and the Union is so greatly extended and the current of immigration from Europe is so fully set towards the Northern States, that their relative importance in wealth and population will be likely to diminish from year to year."

Here the conversation was interrupted by reference to the large and enthusiastic reception given to Mr. Morton, in Louisville, upon which he expressed his gratification in the warmest terms.

"I am glad," he said, in this connection, "with entertaining a hatred to the people of the South. This is not so. I deeply lament the crime of the rebellion, and the misfortunes it brought upon the nation, but I think I know how to place the responsibility where it chiefly belongs. My hope is that the bitterness of the past may be forgotten and that all will unite in accepting the new principles of national life. But it is dangerous to believe in that until it comes true. It is always safer to understand the facts just as they are."

"What is your opinion of the political prospects of Kentucky in the present campaign?"

"The Republicans will make large gains."

"Do you think the colored vote will be fully polled?"

"Certainly. The colored citizens of Kentucky are keenly alive to their own interests. They know who their friends are."

What of the

REGORING HARMONY BETWEEN THE NORTH AND SOUTH?"

interposed a Kentuckian present.

"But for the evil influences of a class of Northern politicians, the period of final reconciliation between the North and South would be much nearer at hand than it is. They have educated the people of the South to believe that the Republicans of the North, in their natural enmities, and that all the measures of the Government are unconstitutional and tyrannical, and it will take them a long time to undo the mischief, if they should go to work in earnest."

"How about—" began the persistent first speaker; but, at this point, Gen. Spooner came in, and put to flight the ridiculous pending of the discussion of which the interrogation ceased.

FROM THE COUNTRY.

South Kentucky—Growing Towns—Grayson Springs—Personal Mention, etc.

[Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

FRANKLIN, July 28.

This is the county-seat of Simpson, one of the extreme southern counties of Kentucky, bordering on Sumner and Robertson counties, Tennessee. During the war it did a thriving trade in contraband merchandise, and many citizens, even loyal ones, waxed wealthy thereby. It now has a population of over 3,000, and does a large trade for an inland village. Its public square is composed of large and handsome business houses, and on every street may be seen dwellings that would do honor to your own Walnut or Broadway.

There are two very flourishing institutions of learning here—the Franklin Female College, under the superintendence of President George M. Logan and an able faculty, and the Male Outfit College, presided over by Mr. B. W. Vineyard. These institutions are capable of accommodating from two to three hundred students. One of the best hotels in Southern Kentucky is the Boisseau Hotel in this place, kept by Engleman & Bryan. Many new buildings are in process of construction, and the mercantile business and professional men have lately removed here from other portions of the State. Among the latter we may mention J. D. Bryan, Esq., late county attorney of Bullitt, and Charles Crist, M. D., recently of Shepherdsville.

A spirited contest for the Legislature is going on between R. W. Bush, lawyer, and John M. Crow, farmer, both Democrats. W. W. Frazer, of Todd county, will be elected to the senate to succeed Dr. Vallandingham. No Radical opposition.

The Sentinel newspaper is doing a fine business under the editorial management of J. C. Adams. The financial and mechanical department is ably conducted by Wm. C. Munger, formerly of your city.

GRAYSON SPRINGS, July 29.

Under the popular administration of Capt. W. S. Vanmeter & Bro., this has come to be regarded as the Saratoga of Kentucky. The buildings are superior in size and style to those of any other watering place in the State, and the springs in number, variety and medical efficacy are not surpassed by any in the Union. Since 1832 Grayson has been a resort for the invalid and pleasure-seeker—even when the place was accessible only by slow coaches over rough dirt roads. Now when steam cars carry you within two miles, from whence you are conveyed in easy coaches over a smooth turnpike, and that additional facilities have yearly to be erected to accommodate the increased number of visitors. These springs are said to number over one hundred, all within an area of two acres, and so close to the hotels that any invalid can visit them who can walk about his room.

Among the pleasant features we see promenading on the grassy plains and beautifully-draped hills are your revered senior, W. N. Haldeman, Captain Zach. Shirley, James Trabue, Clinton McClure, E. M. Small, Elder J. B. Ewglish, R. M. Alexander, Webster Holloway, A. H. Barnett, L. Barrett, Wm. Robinson, Pack Thomas, R. A. Thomas, Charles Douglas, Capt. Harris, Geo. W. Norton, R. W. Parish, and last, but not least, Scott Glore, who is general ticket agent for the sale of tickets in the grand gift concert for the benefit of the Kentucky Library Association. Most of these gentlemen are accompanied by wives, children, or friends. We also recognize among the visitors Gov. Wm. Johnson, of Baltimore; Hon. Alvin Duvall, of Frankfort; Mr. Ten Broeck, the great horse man; Sylvester Johnson, famous for his brand of Nelson whisky, and various others too numerous to mention. The house has been built one month here this season, that of Mr. Charles Lee, of Bullitt county, who came here a confirmed and incurable invalid. Mr. Lee died this morning at 9 o'clock, and will be conveyed for burial to his home near Shepherdsville. He is an elder brother of Phil. Lee, Esq., of your city, and was one of the most wealthy farmers and most enterprising stock speculators of Bullitt county.

☞ Ellen Casey, the woman whose leg was amputated at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, on account of a bullet wound received during the Orange riot, was a professional pickpocket, and made an excellent living by her trade. She lived in good style, in handsomely furnished rooms on Eighth avenue, and sent her children to a fashionable school in Lexington avenue—where she supported them by her ill-gotten gains. When shot she was out on one of her predatory excursions, and had picked five pockets during the morning.

NEW ALBANY.

The City Clerk will pay off the fire and police department to-day.

The pay roll of the police department for the month of July foots up $880.

Francis Franklin, a straggler, was lodged in the station-house Sunday night.

Marriage Bonds was issued yesterday to Andrew Hood and Ellen Finley.

General W. T. Spicely, of Orleans, was the guest of the DePauw House yesterday.

The County Physician reports that there are no cases of sickness at the County Poor Asylum.

The officers of Enterprise Lodge, No. 80, Independent Order of Good Templars, were elected last night.

D. C. Hill & Co. commenced raising the superstructure of the New Albany Rolling Mill yesterday.

Valentine Graff, County Treasurer, makes his last call on delinquent tax-payers to come forward and settle.

The case of Charles Spencer, charged with assaulting James Collins, was continued in Justice Monroe's Court until next Monday.

The double-sculled outriggers Morris McDonald and the George B. Marsh will have a race next Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

Lindsey Wade, of Greenville township, paid $6 to the Police Court yesterday for the privilege of getting drunk Saturday night.

The street car Bible flocks party of about two hundred fifty of the colored population on an excursion to Brandenburg yesterday.

Mr. Hiram Lindley, of Evansville, a former resident of New Albany, is in the city on a visit to his relatives and friends.

The Odd Fellows' Mutual Aid Association yesterday presented a check for $687 to the widow of Mr. James Kinney, late a member of the association.

Wm. Hurley, city sexton, reports the number of interments at the Northern burial ground during the week ending July 31st as follows: Adults 4, children 1; total 15.

It will be seen by reference to the arrivals at the DePauw House yesterday that the Moore family were well represented. They were registered as seven brothers and one sister.

Judge Dunham has been invited to deliver an address at Harvest Home celebration at Courtland, Jackson county, August 10th. Courtland is his old home.

The Tarascon, from Henderson, discharged fifteen hogsheads of tobacco at this port, yesterday, for shipment East by the Jeffersonville railroad.

The sub-contractors on the New Albany and St. Louis Air-line railroad between the big tunnel and Milltown, Crawford county, are reported as progressing rapidly with their work.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of Mr. A. D. Leyden yesterday. Jefferson Lodge No. 104 A. Y. M. turned out in large numbers, headed by the New Albany Silver Cornet and Band.

Complaints have been filed in the Police Court against Lettie Walker, Rebecca J. Taylor, Jane Anderson and Ellen Keeping a disorderly house on Lower Eighth street. All will have a hearing in the Police Court this morning.

The expiration of the sentence of four of the city prisoners, Jacob Lorey, Richard Milberger, August 8th; Fred. Schonig, September 8th; James Dempster, August 8th; Anna Baker, August 8th, will have a bearing.

No one appearing against John Carroll, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct in the Police Court yesterday morning, he was discharged from custody. With a defiant crow he left the court-room to finish out his big drunk.

The Board of Trustees of DePauw College met last night for the purpose of electing a president of that institution. We had not learned the result when our report closed, but it was the general opinion that Dr. Bowley would be re-elected.

Two of the West-end vocalists imbibed too freely of "peach-and-honey" Saturday night. They became very hilarious, and regaled the citizens of that locality with "Put me in my little bed." "Little brown jug" and other delicious melodies, until becoming weary they sought repose on the north side of plank in a lumber-yard. No arrests.

The following transfers of real estate were recorded yesterday: John Raspy to Jacob Walters, Lot 4, Lot 8, Eighth street, plat 30, $150; Joseph W. Bradford to C. A. Jones, lots 16, 18 and 20, Woodlawn addition, plat 2, $300; S. R. Day to Mary A. Young, west 2' feet of lot 3, King Sutton's plat 19, $300; John P. Vernia to Jacob Bischoff, 17, Mooreville, $750.

Henry Williams, New York; J. P. Guartney, Mauckport; W. P. George, Brandenburg; John Jackson, Louisville; James Moore, Richmond; Homer Rawlins, Bedford; Calvin Moore, city; Walter Moore, Barclay Moore, Miss Ella Moore, Henry Mount, Salem; Samuel Moore, Lafayette; J. Brooks, city; J. K. Marsh, Charlestown; Thomas Strong, Rosewood; G. H. Barrett, Indianapolis; Dr. Hughes, Hughes, Ind., O. were registered at the DePauw House yesterday.

A stranger who was in our city on Sunday paid a visit to the Northern Cemetery, and was under the impression, from the conduct of some of the visitors, that it was a place of resort for picnic parties. Groups were gathered under the shade trees engaged in loud laughing and talking, drinking beer, eating lunch over the graves and exhibiting a total disregard for the sanctity of the place. The Chief of Police has been notified of their conduct and will take proper measures to prevent a recurrence in future.

About 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning Judge A. B. Conover by a professional sailor tried to make an entrance into his residence, near the corner of Elm and Ninth streets. He had procured a ladder, which was standing near the fence on the alley adjoining the residence, preparatory to placing it under a window. The Judge mistook the intruder for a burglar, and in accepting the new principles of national life. But it is dangerous to believe in that until it comes true. It is always safer to understand the facts just as they are."

"What is your opinion of the political prospects of Kentucky in the present campaign?"

"The Republicans will make large gains."

...VIRGINIA GALLOWS SCENES.

Hanging of the Alleged Murderers of Friend—A Jolly Crowd—Every Public Vehicle Engaged a Week Ahead.

A Shocking Finale.

[Herald Prince George Court-house Letter, July 28th.]

The two negro Friend murderers, who so narrowly escaped death four weeks ago by a respite of the Governor, to-day expiated their crime on the scaffold in the presence of a large crowd. The history of this has been twice published, but it is necessary at present to give a brief review of the murder, arrest and trial of the murderers: Just as darkness had cast its shadows over the earth, on the evening of the 24th of March last, Mr. Charles Friend, one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens of Prince George county, was waylaid and brutally murdered on the City Point Railroad, about midway between his residence and the city of Petersburg, distant some three miles. The old gentleman had walked over to Petersburg, as was his custom, to attend Lenten service at the Grace-street Episcopal church, after which he left for his home, declining the kind invitations to remain over the night, as it was quite dark. On his way he stopped at a tailor's near the suburbs of the city, and took a small basket containing a pair of his son's pantaloons and some spool cotton which he had purchased that evening. He had also an umbrella in his hand, and with these articles he emerged from the city limits as the gaslights were glittering in every direction. Little did he dream then that he was dogged by a cowardly assassin or assassins; but when about half way his ear caught the sound of following footsteps, and looking around he observed two dimly-defined figures, which he took to be negroes, rapidly approaching. In a few moments afterwards, and before Mr. Friend had proceeded many paces further, one of the assassins—the tallest of the two—ran stealthily up behind him and dealt him

A TERRIFIC BLOW ON THE HEAD,

which felled him instantly to the ground and rendered him insensible. This was on the track of the City Point railroad, and here the murderers, with fiendish ingenuity, allowed the body to remain—for just then the shrill whistle and roaring noise of an approaching train could be heard—and the assassins retired into the darkness to await the finale of their bloody deed. They had hoped the train would finish their work and cut out all traces of their connection with it; but in this they were defeated. As the thundering noise of the train came closer it aroused Mr. Friend to consciousness, and his feeble strength, which seemed to have departed, returned. He had left he crawled from the track and barely escaped that terrible death as the TRAIN SWEPT PAST.

Soon after this the assasans, whom Mr. Friend then discovered to be negroes, came to him, and, lifting him in their arms, bore him right position. For reasons which it is hard to divine, the murderers then led Mr. Friend across the narrow plank path on the trestle-work of the bridge over the Appomattox river. At this point they were nearly overtaken by a woman, also driving a horse and buggy, ex R. C. Wright, 11¾c; 4,000 do, ex Lurline, 11⅝c; 667 do, ex Alaska, at 11¾c, all gold in bond. Also, seven second-class Virginia bonds in lots within the range annexed. For several days past the market has been dull, owing to the firmness of holders. New York Tobacco Market.

[Financial Chronicle, 29th.]

Tobacco has been less active and the market is without new feature. The advance quoted last week is maintained, with sales of 1,000 hhds, for the week of 1,300 hhds, of which about one-half for export, mostly for regular contracts. The home sales embraced some lines on speculation, but were mostly to dealers and cutters. Prices steady at 7@8c. for wrappers, and 4@5c for common to fine leaf. Seed leaf tobacco is in moderate demand and prices steady; sales embrace 350 cases New Ohio, 28c; 100 cases old crop Connecticut wrappers, 40@50c., and 200 bales sundried at 25@35c. Spanish tobacco in fair request, with sales 500 bales Havana at 90c@$1 05.

The Imports at New York.

[From the Journal of Commerce, 29th.]

The imports for the week show considerable increase both of dry goods and general merchandise; the total reaching $4,628 and a half million dollars in foreign gold value.

Foreign Markets.

COTTON GOODS—MANCHESTER, July 17.—The market is extremely dull to-day. The falling off in sales of cotton from 13,000 and 20,000 bales per day to 8,000 this morning, has taken many producers by surprise, though it was expected generally that the speculative movement must collapse before long. There is little or no inquiry to-day either for yarns or cloths, and though prices remain nominally at the rates of Friday, many sellers would make some concessions to ensure sales. Buyers, however, are unwilling even to make offers.

SHEFFIELD, 17th.—The condition of trade in this town and district continues to be, on the whole, satisfactory. All the heavy branches are fully employed, the demand from the United States especially being exceedingly brisk, and there is a fair prospect of this state of things continuing for considerable time. Prices are firm, though in almost all descriptions of steel the exports to America are large, and there is a fair demand for Bessemer and merchant steel upon the continent. The armor plate and rolling mills are fully employed. More is doing in saws, files and edge tools, but these branches are not active. The demand for cutlery is not by any means so brisk as it should be now. A fair trade is being done in some of the finer qualities of spring blades; little, however, is doing in the commoner qualities, and there has been a decided falling off in the inquiry for table cutlery. The manufacturers of agricultural implements are busy. Holders of silver-plated metal and plated trade goods are tolerably well employed. Advices from the United States are encouraging, and a fair fall trade may be expected.

Metal Circular.

LONDON, July 14, 1871.—A good business has been done in our leading articles throughout the week, and the position of the metal market has not shown such an encouraging prospect as at present for some time past.

Copper—The good demand prevailing for copper induced the English smelters to advance their prices officially 2l per ton on the 11th inst. This rise has in no way curtailed orders, and the prices for other descriptions of copper are now gradually creeping up to the same extent. Large sales of Chili bars have been made during the past week at from £66 15s to £67 for Lots. £67 for Tennessee and good ordinary brands, and £68 10s for best brands, this quality being comparatively cheaper than other descriptions. Some considerable transactions have taken place in Regulus, spot and to arrive, at 16s. Fine foreign closes firm. In English, manufactured has been quiet, but there has been a very fair inquiry for raw sorts. On the 11th inst. the cablegram in advance of the mail of 19th June from Valparaiso came to hand, advising charters of 1,200 tons of fine copper, 150 tons of bars and ingots, and 300 tons line of ores and regulus.

Tin—A fair business has been done in straits at from £98 5d to £98s 6d, according to terms and prompt. The market closes very firm at the middle price.

Tin plates—The demand for tin plates is exceedingly good, and some difficulty is experienced in getting orders booked for prompt delivery. Under these circumstances a further advance of 1s@1s 6d per box in the prices is anticipated.

Iron—A very good business is doing and makers are asking an advance.

Spelter—The market for spelter is dull.

VIVIAN, YOUNGER & BOND.

Spices.

[Shipping List, 29th.]

There have been no further telegrams received from the Straits Settlements, but mail advices and dispatches from Europe are very favorable to holders of nutmegs, the quotation yesterday from Holland being 50c. for 75's, equal to 51 05 here. This imparted a further stimulus to an already sensitive market, and the business has been very large. We infer that the Amsterdam sale and those dispatches give the present stock 87,000 bales.

Silk from the Ailanthus.

In some parts of France silk manufacture has received quite an impetus from experiments made with the Samia Cynthia worm, fed on the leaves of the ailanthus. A writer in the Journal says: "The gloss of ailanthus silk far surpasses any other known varieties of bourre de Soie, and by combining it in time be made for pillaire it can produce white silk." Another writer states that the silk gathered from the ailanthus is unquestionable the time of that of the mulberry worm, does not spot so easily, and washes like linen." Mons. Emil Laurie, after a long series of experiments, writes as follows: "The cocoons are easy to cord and spin; the thread obtained is less brilliant than the mulberry, more regular and rough, and leaves no residue when cleaned and take a good dye. This culture, he adds, can be made to furnish a handsome and a stronger and finer gloss than the mulberry silkworm."

The culture of the condemned ailanthus is likely to become an enterprise of great promise, and the results of experiments, if more thoroughly carried out warrant extensive operations. The tree is easily grown, and the leaves are hardy and a ready food supply. There is no doubt a rich boon to any farmer who will engage carefully and systematically in the culture of the ailanthus and the Cynthia worm.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Ed. Gallop, Southwestern Passenger Agent of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, is in the city.

Capt. Bullitt Alexander leaves the city to-day for an extended tour through the East and thence to Europe.

Gen. Duff Green, Vicksburg; Gen. George H. Chipman, receiver L., N. A. & C. R. R., and Capt. John W. Cannon, steamer Robt. E. Lee, New Orleans, are registered at the Louisville Hotel.

We are authorized to contradict the story which has been extensively circulated in the newspapers that Mrs. Sally Ward Hunt has brought suit against Mr. H. D. Newcomb for breach of promise. No engagement ever existed between the parties, and none such was ever dreamed of by either of them. Mrs. Hunt feels justly outraged that she should be thus wantonly dragged before the public from a retirement which she has sought and maintained for many years.

A rumor, founded strongly on circumstances, was rife in the city yesterday that the H. W. Wilson mentioned in our dispatches of Monday as having been severely wounded in the boiler explosion at New York, was Mr. H. W. Wilkes, formerly a merchant here, now of New York, and still owning a large amount of real estate in this city. Mr. Albert O. Wilkes, his brother, had received no intelligence up to a late hour this morning, but if there be any truth in the rumor will probably learn to-day. There is no such prominent merchant in this city as H. W. Wilson, and there was therefore some mistake in the matter.

R. L. Gibson, New Orleans; H. C. Rogers, Shreveport, La.; W. H. Stevens, G. W. Hynson, George S. Mandeville, W. S. Pike, New Orleans; E. Yates, Quincy, Ill.; L. H. Lyford, Boston; W. M. Read, Augusta, Ga.; J. A. Hill, W. A. Hill, St. Louis; J. S. McKendrick, Shelby County; C. B. Pettit, New Orleans; James McDonough, St. Louis; E. Gallup, Cincinnati, O.; J. B. Keen, Frankfort, Kentucky; Miss Minnie Rodman, Frankfort, Kentucky; J. C. Hays, Elizabethtown, Kentucky; Pierce Shannon, Baltimore, Maryland; Captain J. H. Durbson, Indianapolis, Indiana; Henry Smith, Esq., Lee county, Kentucky.

AMUSEMENTS.

St. Dominic's Picnic.

The second annual picnic of the St. Dominic Benevolent Society was held at Woodland Garden yesterday. A very large crowd was in attendance, and with music, dancing and creature comforts, solid and fluid, the day passed off very pleasantly. The affair must have resulted in a financial success—a desirable result, in view of the charitable purposes of the association.

The Policemen's Picnic.

The Policemen's Benevolent Union held its annual picnic at Lion Garden yesterday and last night. In spite of the attractions of another affair of like nature at the other garden, a large company was present, who enjoyed themselves hugely. Like the other, it is a matter of congratulation that this was, financially, a success, as the object of the Union is a most worthy one. By its aid, we understand, a disabled member, whether by wounds or sickness, is paid $10 a month during his unfitness for duty, and it is only to be regretted that this stipend might not be increased. It is certainly well deserved by these faithful custodians of the city's peace.

THE UNRULY GIRLS.

They Make Their Escape from St. Xavier's by Scaling the Walls.

The two young ladies, Misses Matilda and Fannie Elkins, committed to St. Xavier's last Saturday, by an order from the Police Court, made their escape from that institution by scaling the walls last Sunday morning. They were soon intercepted, however, by officer Schmitt and placed in First-street station-house. Yesterday morning they were again before the City Court. Judge Price, not being inclined to return them to St. Xavier's, held them in $500 bond each to be of good behavior for six months. A gentleman from Eastern Kentucky, hearing the decision of the court, proposed to take one of the girls to live in his family as a servant. The gentleman being a stranger, Judge Price required that before he could take her he would have to give reference as to his character, &c., and in addition to this to go on her bond. Whether he did so or not we were unable to learn yesterday evening.

The Road to Ruin.

Alice Dennis, a bright, intelligent-looking girl, fifteen years of age, who was arrested at the instance of her mother, last Sunday evening, at a house on Lafayette street, kept by one Mollie Ryan, was before the City Court yesterday morning, and required to give bond in the sum of $500 for six months' good behavior. Her mother had formerly lived in New Albany, Ind., but some six months ago removed to St. Louis, leaving Alice to take care of herself as best she could. She brooked her troubles for some time, but, feeling that she had been deserted and thrown upon the charities of a cold-hearted world, she became despondent, and was easily persuaded to take up her abode in the house above alluded to. After the decision of the court, her mother seemed anxious to have her daughter go with her, provided she would promise to act right in the future. This she promised to do. Judge Price, believing this promise to be only a ruse upon the part of Alice, ordered that she should be sent to St. Xavier for six months.

Woodworking Machinery.

A project is now on foot to establish in the lower part of this city a new factory for the manufacture of woodworking machinery. There is no establishment of the sort in the city and if this project be successful—for which, there is said to be the most favorable prospect—it cannot fail in being a great advantage to Southern buyers of such material—the nearest factory being in Cincinnati. A practical maker of such machinery, Mr. H. Fletcher, has a stock of the necessary tools already, and is the chief mover in this affair. Col. Boone has offered, in the event of a charter being obtained, to donate or lease the necessary ground, and if the capital of $30,000 needed be secured the manufacture of this machinery in Louisville will become a fact.

The Speaking Last Night.

Quite a large crowd assembled at Woodland Garden last night for the speeches of Hons. Isaac Caldwell, T. L. Burnett, and L. W. Haberoom. Mr. Caldwell commenced with an urgent appeal to the voters before him to visit the polls on Monday next and there deposit their votes for the cause of true liberty and order, and dwelt at length upon the current topics of the day. He was followed by Mr. Haberoom, who was succeeded by Judge Burnett. These gentlemen have announced three joint appointments, to conclude at the Court-house to-morrow night.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Glover Hall Selected as a Temporary Building for the Female High School—The Scientists Invited—Examination and Course of Study—Etc.

The School Board, pursuant to the call of the President, met last night to consider as to the necessities of the Female High School building. The President explained that the present building is totally unfit for the accommodation of the number of pupils expected for the next session. The committee had selected, after great exertion, Glover's Skating Rink, on Seventh street, as the most suitable, indeed the only suitable, building in the city that may be obtained for the purpose proposed. The rent would be $2,000 per annum, and he hoped that the Board would empower the Secretary to secure this building. No arrangements had as yet been made to dispose of the property on First street, and reinvest the proceeds in the purchase of more desirable property and the erection of another building for the Female High School. The President then left the chair, and moved that the Secretary be so authorized to rent the Rink at a cost that should not exceed $2,000 per annum, the building to be given up at the end of any month desired.

Mr. Speed asked what would be the probable cost of fitting up the new building, to which Mr. Morris replied that no estimate had been as yet made, but it was thought by the Superintendent that the approximate cost would not exceed $1,000.

Major Kinney believed this would separate the two High Schools too widely. Mr. Morris replied to a question that it was proposed to accomodate both schools in the building; the dimensions are 52½ by 180 feet. Major Kinney believed that it were more advisable to do without the High Schools for a year, and was opposed, under any circumstances, to building on First street. The Mayor had done nothing so far toward disposing of the present property or toward the purchase of the property as suggested at a former session. The question was too important to be acted on at this meeting. He moved as a substitute that the matter be postponed until the next meeting and then to be made the special order at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Morris stated that, after careful examination, he was confident that Glover's Rink was the only available building, and that, if the matter were further delayed, the beginning of the next session would be upon us without any accommodation for the pupils expected.

Major Kinney repeated his objection to voting at the present meeting without further consideration on so important a matter.

Dr. L. P. Yandell was in favor of securing Glover's Rink, as the best thing to be done under the circumstances.

To a question by Major Kinney, Mr. Quigley replied that there were 5,560 square feet in the three floors of the present building, including stairs, as opposed to 8,000 square feet in the Rink, exclusive of stairways.

The substitute was then, after further discussion, rejected by a vote of 10 to 6. The original motion to rent the Rink at an annual rental not exceeding $2,000, provided that it might be given up at the end of any month, was then put to the board and adopted by a unanimous vote.

THE REPORT ON THE COURSE OF STUDY ADOPTED.

Major Kinney then moved that the report of the Committee on Examination and Course of Study be taken up, which was carried, and, on motion, the report was adopted.

PURCHASE OF A LOT IN THE TENTH WARD.

The Chairman of the Committee on Building introduced a resolution recommending the purchase of a lot for the building of a public school for the Tenth ward, which was, on motion, referred to the Finance Committee.

THE FEMALE HIGH SCHOOL AGAIN.

On motion to refer the matter of making the necessary repairs in Glover's Rink to the Building Committee, the same was so referred.

Mr. Morris then moved that the Building Committee be instructed to advertise for plans for the new Female High School, which was carried.

Mr. Speed then moved to reconsider the previous motion, in order that some provision might be made for the employment of an architect to make such plans, and on this motion being carried, moved that the Building Committee be authorized to employ an architect to act in conjunction with the Superintendent in preparing the plans necessary, which was carried.

THE SCIENTIFIC VISITORS.

Mr. Bohne then offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Board of School Trustees appoint a committee to consult with the representative scientific men of this city and of New Albany with a view to a reception of the members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, who are expected to visit this city about the 19th of August on their way to the Mammoth Cave and other points of interest in the State.

This resolution was adopted, and Messrs Bohne and L. P. Yandell appointed as such committee.

THE NEW FEMALE HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

The following resolution was offered by Major Kinney:

Resolved, That the Mayor of Louisville be, and he is hereby, requested to sell the property on First street, now used for the Female High School, and to purchase for the use of said school a lot suitable; and we hereby request the Mayor to purchase some lot conveniently and centrally located, and hereby call his attention to the property belonging to the heirs of S. S. Nicholas, between Walnut and Chestnut, on Fifth street, and the property belonging to the heirs of Sarah E. Dent, on Fifth street, between ——— and York streets, and the property of the Hurst heirs, between Broadway and ——— streets, on Fifth street.

The resolution was then adopted, and the School Board, on motion, adjourned until Monday next.

A DAY'S DOINGS.

The Thefts, Burglaries and Chloroforming of Monday.

Sunday night was prolific of thefts and burglaries. Besides the one mentioned in another column, two more are reported. On the night in question, sometime before day, the house of Col. Henry Dent on Fifth street, between York and Breckinridge, was entered by some person or persons unknown, and valuable property carried off. The room of Mr. J. D. Mankin, connected with the gas office, and boarding with Col. Dent, was invaded while Mr. M. was asleep and a diamond pin, a watch, sleeve-buttons and other articles of jewelry, besides some clothing, stolen. The thief has not as yet been arrested.

Some time between Sunday night and yesterday morning a thief or thieves entered the room of Mr. W. T. Ross, at 271 Seventh street, between Chestnut and Broadway, administered chloroform to him while asleep, and carried away some $150 or $200 worth of property. It appears that Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock Mr. Ross left his room, and did not return until 11 that night. On getting back to the room he found the gas burning, but supposing it had been lighted by Mr. Field, with whom he was boarding, he paid no attention to it, undressed and went to bed. He knew nothing more until he was aroused, with great difficulty, early the next morning, by Mr. Field, who had been absent all night, and had just returned home. On his awakening Mr. Field exhibited to him a pair of his pantaloons which he (Mr. Field) had found lying on the floor of his room, which adjoined that of Mr. Ross. On examination it was found that both rooms had been ransacked, all of Mr. Ross' clothing taken with the exception of the pantaloons, which had been dropped, various articles of jewelry belonging to him, and several pieces of clothing of Mr. Field. A strong odor of chloroform was plainly evident in the room, and lying on the bed was found a piece of cloth saturated with the fluid. It is supposed that the person or persons entered the room prior to the coming of Mr. Ross the night before, lighted the gas and were concealed in the room when he went to bed. They afterward held the chloroform to his nostrils and ransacked the room while he was in an insensible condition.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning a man named John Eastern alias Red John, and a notorious thief, was arrested at the corner of Preston and Green in the act of disposing of a quantity of clothing for $7 to a colored dealer in second-hand clothes. He was taken to the First-street station and the clothing to the police headquarters, where they were afterwards identified by Mr. Ross. Eastern had been observed by Officer Nally looking about the vicinity of the burglary an hour or two before it occurred, and also an individual, supposed to be a confederate, coming out of an alley leading from the back of the house entered, about the supposed time of the burglary.

Late yesterday morning Mr. Ross was still suffering from a heavy feeling in the head incident of his experience the night before. He was able to attend to his business, however, as bookkeeper with Messrs. M. & S. Hodkinson, on Fourth street below Main, and will suffer, probably, no inconvenient results. Easton was presented before the City Court yesterday, and the case continued until Wednesday.

Yesterday, Wesley Jones and Belle Jones, man and wife, colored, were arrested by Officers Ruhl and May, charged with the theft of a lot of clothing from a German tailor in the corner block of Third and Walnut, and lodged in the First-street station. It appears that the clothing was taken from a clothes-line in the yard back of the tailor-shop, and pawned at a second-hand shop on Preston and Walnut, where it was recovered and placed in the station-house. Wesley was a cart-driver, and his wife was in the employ of David Murphy, coal dealer. The articles stolen consisted of ten pairs of pants, three coats and two vests.

In addition to these, Constable J. W. Shafer yesterday brought in from the county five negro men, George Taylor, Pres. Thomas, Jack Stroman, Charles Wilson, and William Wilson, charged with stealing twelve dollars from one Lydia Wilson. The party were placed in jail.

An Important Arrest.

John Eastern, alias John McIntosh, but best known as Red John, whose arrest for burglary of the room of Mr. Ross is mentioned in another article, may be regarded as of more than usual importance, and to Sergeant Harding, of the police force, who effected the arrest, much credit is due. Red John is a well-known character to the police, and has been arrested several times, but escaped for want of sufficient evidence to convict, but on this occasion was caught with the stolen property in his possession. He is a sharp fellow, and is strongly suspected of having been engaged in most of the burglaries chronicled of late. He was in the penitentiary three years ago, and it is probable that he will now have occasion to pay another visit.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

THE FIRST DAY of the last month of summer.

THE man Muclunny, stabbed last Friday, was better last night, with fair prospects of recovery.

EDMUND LEWIS, colored, for being drunk and disorderly on the streets, was last night lodged in station-house No. 4.

THE REMAINS of the late Gen. J. T. Boyle were taken by the early train yesterday morning to Danville, there to be interred.

THIS OFFICE is under obligations to Mr. James F. Shaw, messenger on the Short-line, for papers received last night in advance of the mails.

CHARLES MCELLER, Irish, engaged in the pleasantly perilous occupation of breaking a street-lamp yesterday, and Charles lay in jail last night.

THE BOYS on Nineteenth street, between Market and Main, have been disturbing the citizens by throwing stones. The police are on the lookout for them.

THE REPORT published yesterday of the cigars, tobacco, beer and ale made and sold in this district should have been for May alone in place of May and June.

BUT ONE ENTRY was on the Clay-street slate last night, and that of an Irish woman, Bridget, etc., who drank too much bad whisky, got noisy, and therefore arrested.

DURING the progress of the game of base ball yesterday afternoon, two boys indulged in a fight, and for several minutes pummeled each other in right good style.

A HORSE attached to a buggy, with driver, became frightened at something about the cars on Broadway, last evening, and ran several squares before he could be stopped.

THE HELM GUARDS were out last night parading the principal streets, preceded by strains of martial music. This excellent military organization will give a moonlight excursion on the 14th inst.

QUITE A number of cases were disposed of yesterday before the Police Court, most of which were for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. It is interesting to sit and watch the manner in which Judge Price disposes of these cases. "Fine him five dollars. Next."

A FREIGHT TRAIN on the connection line ran over a cow Saturday afternoon, between the Baxter avenue and Broadway bridges over Beargrass, killing the animal and throwing three cars from the track. The latter were soon replaced, having suffered but little damage.

THERE was quite a lively and noisy time, yesterday afternoon, on Jefferson, between Third and Fourth streets, occasioned by two rival bands playing at the same time. Such a discord of sweet sounds, we venture to say, has never before been heard on the streets.

BY REFERENCE to the report of the meeting of the School Board last night, it will be seen that that body took steps relative to the reception of the distinguished scientific gentlemen expected here this month. A good move, and it is hoped that the Commercial is commensurately elated.

A CHILD of Clara Carter, a colored woman living on Magazine street, below Fourteenth, while playing among the flower-pots in the second story window, slipped and fell from the window to the pavement below. Strange to say that, except a slight bruise on the arm, it sustained no injury.

THE Board of United States Examining Surgeons meet to-morrow at No. 52 West Jefferson street, between the hours of eleven and two o'clock, for the purpose of examining such persons as may be brought before them. The Board is composed of the following physicians: Thomas W. Colescott, Samuel Brandeis and George W. Griffiths.

JOHN BELL, on the river, requests us to say that the Republicans have announced a meeting at his house, for Friday evening next, and as he is going away from home he does not wish such meeting to be held as announced. He gives this notice that the Republican Committee may have time to designate another place for the holding of their meeting.

THE REPUBLICAN meeting, last night, on the Fountain Ferry road, was well attended, there being between three and four hundred persons present, principally Germans. The speakers were Hon. Sam McKee, Capt. Benninger, Capt. Anton Kutzleb, and William Krippenstapel. The last-named addressed the meeting in the German language.

A BOY named Toumy Mealley, aged four years, strayed away from his home, on Fifth and the levee, yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, and up to two this morning had not been found. Any information leading to his recovery will be thankfully received by his father. He had on a green gingham waist and gray pants when lost and was barefooted and bareheaded.

IN THE game of base ball yesterday between the Lone Stars, of Louisiana, and the Kentuckys, of this city, the catcher of the former club endeavored to stop a ball with his eye. He stopped the ball, but saw more stars than constitute the club of which he is a member. By sticking the eye in a bucket of water and giving it a good scrubbing he was enabled to resume the game, although not in his old position.

EVERY Sunday afternoon, when the weather is fair, a party of men assemble on Sixth, near Kentucky street, and engage in pitching quoits. This always attracts a large number of boys, and disturbs the peace of the neighborhood. Quiet, order-loving people in this locality, who wish to enjoy the rest afforded them on the Sabbath, are very much disturbed by this desecration of the day, and complain to the police of the same, but the police say there is no law by which the thing can be stopped.

DURING THE PAST WEEK a small force, comparatively, of fourteen men, did quite an extraordinary quick piece of work at the new car shops of the Louisville and Cincinnati Short-line. They successfully raised and set nine roof treasses, each weighing seven tons, to an elevation of twenty-five feet on the walls of the new building, moving the necessary timbers two hundred feet, putting the same together and setting in all the castings without the least mishap. This was all done in the short space of fifty hours.

PROCRASTINATION is the thief of time. Anna Brown, colored, who is decidedly fast, was on Saturday last the thief of time when she appropriated the watch of Louisa Henderson. Louisa had quite a time in discovering the thief, but in due time the theft was traced to Anna, and she was made to come to time by being lodged in jail. Yesterday she was brought up for trial in the Police Court, and in a short time received a sentence which will confine her in safe quarters for a long time. Anna should have known this all the time, and thereby avoided the unpleasant results having their origin in the stealing of time.

A Down-Town Downfall.

Mrs. Donahue keeps a stand at the upper end of the Eleventh-street market. Her stand encroaches somewhat upon the street. Yesterday morning a man drove his wagon against the skaky foundation of the table upon which Mrs. Donahue displays her vegetables, and all about the street in promiscuous confusion were scattered the apples, pears, peaches, onions, etc. The feelings of Mrs. D. can better be imagined than described as she cast her eyes upon the downfall of her entire stock in trade and contemplated the ruin of her fortune. She started down the street shouting "police, police, police!" The police came to her rescue, but the man and wagon had disappeared. Half an hour later the man returned, and by paying Mrs. Donahue a liberal sum, compromised the matter and restored her to a good humor.

The Fate of a Missing Man.

It will be remembered that last May a man by the name of George W. Madison left the U. S. Marine Hospital, in this city, to go to Newport, Ky., to be present at the settlement of the estate of a deceased relative. After leaving Louisville nothing was heard of him, and it was feared that he had been killed. He is at present in this city, stopping at the United States Hotel, and accounts for his long silence and absence by saying that while on the way to his destination he took a severe cold which necessitated his stopping in Cincinnati for medical treatment. The cold settled in his eyes, and he was treated for iritis, which detained him until a few days ago.

A Pleasant Occasion.

Mr. Will. Horan, formerly Marshal, and now Deputy Marshal of the City Court, last night celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his marriage. A goodly company of friends were present, and the evening passed off most pleasantly. At the proper time the company assembled in the dining-room, where an exceptionally handsome board was set, with plenty of the wine that is red, to say nothing of some of Bustard's best, added to the more solid comforts of life. The groom and bride of a score of years looked hardly the half of a decade married, and have every promise of passing as green an old age together as they have the prime of their youth.

Died of Too Much Drink.

An inquest was held yesterday at the corner of Jefferson and Eleventh streets over the remains of one Dr. F. Kurfuerst, who had died from the excessive use of liquor. Kurfuerst, who was a veterinary surgeon, as shown by his card, had been on a spree for several weeks past, and what with a system debilitated by a life of excesses, this last continued debauch resulted fatally. He occupied a room back of Mr. Joseph Gottschalk's drug store, where the inquest was held and a verdict returned in accordance with the above facts.

Democratic Meetings To-Night.

Appointments are announced for to-night of addresses by Hon. Isaac Caldwell and Hon. T. L. Burnett at the corner of Jefferson and Fourteenth streets, and by the Hon. L. W. Habercom, of Hopkinsville, in German, at the same point; by Hon. Alfred T. Pope, at the corner of Preston and Market; by Hon. Ben. Webb and Mr. Frank McGwin at the Cross Roads and Portland avenue.

Teachers' Institute.

The Congressional Institute appointed by Superintendent Smith to convene in Lagrange is now in session, and the teachers of Jefferson county, and especially those of Louisville, are cordially invited to attend and participate in its exercises. The institute will be held until Friday, August 5th. Teachers throughout the Fifth Congressional District are invited to be present.

BASE BALL.

Kentuckys vs. Lone Stars.

By far the largest number of people that has visited Cedar Hill this season assembled last afternoon to witness the Kentucky-Lone Star game. The number of persons in attendance was estimated as high as one thousand, but from six to eight hundred will probably approximate the number present. The Kentuckys for the first time this season won the toss and sent their opponents to the bat. Two runs were made by the Stars in the first inning, the Kentuckys retiring with one tally. A beautiful foul fly was neatly taken by Richardson, the Kentucky catcher, in this inning. On the second inning the Stars added four runs and the Kentuckys accepted a goose egg. In this inning Amar, in right field, took a hot one from Smith, and for the Kentuckys, Mansir, in center, took Redon's fly in pretty style. The third inning on the part of the Kentuckys was miserably played, they by misplays alone allowing the Stars to make nine runs. The Stars, for four innings in succession, whitewashed the Kentuckys, the score standing at the end of the fifth inning 18 to 1 in favor of the New Orleans boys. The Kentuckys made one run on the sixth inning, and were again whitewashed on the seventh. The first and only whitewash for the Lone Stars was on the sixth inning. On the seventh they made three runs, the score at this stage of the game standing, Lone Stars 21, Kentuckys 2. On the eighth inning the Kentuckys did their first good batting, scoring three runs by good and safe batting. The Lone Stars on this inning did some good hitting, scoring three runs. On the ninth and last inning the Kentuckys scored four runs, three of which were made by muffs and misplays of the Stars. The Lone Stars on this inning scored one run, the game ending by a score in favor of the Lone Stars of 25 to 9. Fully seventeen of the runs made by the Stars were due to misplays and balls muffed by the Kentuckys, while the former played sharply and watched all points of the game closely. For a nine that has only been in the field two weeks, the Kentuckys did remarkably well, making the largest number of runs made by any amateur club on the Lone Stars during their present tour. Osborne, Booth and Muir have had little, if any, practice this season, and each of the three filled the position assigned him with great credit. Muir played with a sore and terribly-swollen hand, but for all this played 1st in a manner after the "Old Eagle" style. Preissler, the right fielder of the Kentuckys, made the catch of the day, taking in a difficult and swift liner from Condon's bat. On the Kentucky's side Richardson, Booth, Osborne and Smith did the best general playing. Booth and Mansir, at the bat, led their side. For the Lone Stars, Louer, Amar, Redon and Condon did the heaviest batting, while Amar, Scott, Heenessey, Condin and Redon led in the field. Although defeated, the Kentuckys, for a nine so recently organized, did well, and if they practice constantly, will yet make all amateur organizations in this part of the country reduce things to a fine point to win a victory off them. The Lone Stars have on their present tour defeated all amateur clubs with which they have played, defeating the Ætnas of Illinois, the champion amateurs of the Northwest, by a score of 12 to 4, and the Live Oaks of Cincinnati by 18 to 6. The Lone Stars are good players, and, we think, merit the title they claim as "Champions of the South." They express themselves as well pleased with their visit to Louisville, and expect to call on us again next season. They left for home last night on the 9:30 train. Below we give the summary of the game yesterday:

KENTUCKYS.	O.	R.	LONE STARS.	O.	R.

Eagle, Jr., vs. Eckford.

There will be a match game of base ball at Cedar Hill this afternoon, between the Eagles, Jr., and Eckfords. The Eckfords have reorganized their nine, and an interesting game may be anticipated. Admission 25 cents. Game called at 3 o'clock. The Eagles, Jr., play the Indianas next week at Cedar Hill, and, as each club have won a game, this will be the deciding one.

REAL ESTATE.

The Sale Yesterday in Slevin's West-End Park Addition—Eighty-five Lots Sold for $52,222 27 2-3.

The sale in Slevin's Addition yesterday was numerously attended, at one time there being fully one thousand persons present. The first lots sold were situated on the northeast corner of Twenty-fifth and Rowan streets, and the first lot sold for $25 25. All the remaining lots sold on this square, extending from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-fourth street, brought very fair prices, ranging from $22 to $24 75. The highest price paid for a lot during the sale was at the rate of $26 25, situated corner of Bank and Twenty-fifth streets, and was sold to Mr. Ch. M. Thruston. The lowest price was $16 per foot, for lots on the south side of St. Xavier street, and sold to Mr. J. L. Clemmons. There were purchasers from New Albany, and had more time been given for persons residing at a distance to attend, the entire 310 lots would have been sold. There were comparatively few lots sold to speculators—fully 50 of the entire number of lots sold being purchased by as many different persons. This indicates the speedy erection of buildings throughout the entire addition, as there was a keen interest manifested by the many purchasers to select eligible sites for that purpose. Altogether there were 2,618 feet and two inches of ground sold, embracing eighty-five lots, for a total of $52,222 27⅔, at an average of $19 97⅔ per foot—a very creditable showing for an afternoon's work on unimproved Louisville real estate. There remains unsold in this beautiful addition some 10,000 feet of the most choice portion, and parties desiring to purchase can do so at private sale, by making application to Mr. Thos. Slevin. Purchasers at yesterday's sale can procure their deeds by calling at the office of Morris, Southwick & Co., Nos. 64 and 66 West Jefferson street.

The following list shows the lots sold, together with the name of purchaser, number of feet bought, and price per foot:

Block No. 1, north side Rowan, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets—Lot 5, A. M. Hetzner, $22 50; lot 6, T. Harrington, 30 feet, $22; lot 7, Wm. Hatfield, 30 feet, $20 25; lots 8 and 9, Scott Newman, 60 feet, $20 25; lot 10, M. Raidy, 30 feet, $20 50; lot 11, M. Raidy, 30 feet, $22 75; lot 12, J. K. Leahy, 30 feet, $24 75; lot 13, B. J. Campbell, 30 feet, $24; lot 14, B. J. Campbell, 30 feet, $25 25.

The following is a partial list of presents distributed to purchasers of the Milton gold during the last week: One chamber set furniture, worth $140; one enameled watch, worth $65; two silver watches, worth $16 each: three silver pitchers worth $11 each; seven opera-glasses, worth $8 each; one marble-top bureau, worth $35, and other valuable presents too numerous to mention. A present accompanies every purchase made at this store. Price of each article $1.

☞ The Russia zinc Saratoga trunk for ladies is certainly one of the greatest improvements of the age. No amount of exposure to the weather injures them or their contents. Thieves cannot cut them open, and even a Louisville hack-driver cannot break them. D. O'Hare, 142 Main street.

☞ Remember that D. O'Hare's Great Trunk House is on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth, where you can buy one trunk at the lowest wholesale price.

Wintersmith's Tonic Sirup or Improved Chill Cure.

Breaking the chill is not curing the disease. The cause must be remedied. Wintersmith's Tonic Sirup is the only known remedy that makes a permanent cure, effectually removing the cause of the disease.

☞ One dollar and fifty cents will buy a trunk at D. O'Hare's Great Western Trunk Manufactory, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ XX sole leather trunks, with improved steel spring, at D. O'Hare's Trunk Manufactory, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Economy.

By using Mrs. Whitcomb's Syrup for children many a doctor's bill can be saved and much suffering averted. Read the advertisement in another column.

☞ Remember, that the Trunk that D. O'Hare advertises to sell at $1 50 has rollers on and a tray in it.

☞ You can buy a Saratoga trunk for $4 50 at D. O'Hare's, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

☞ You can buy a nice valise at D. O'Hare's for $1 00. Beat it if you can.

WINTERSMITH'S
Worm Candy!
—OR—
SANTONIN LOZENGES

The Most Reliable Vermifuge ever offered to the Public.

Compounded of Purely Vegetable Ingredients.

Entirely Harmless--Safe for Children of any Age.

Never Fails to Effectually Destroy Worms.

Since the discovery of Santonin, the tasteless active principle of the European Worm-seed (Semen Contra), its consumption has wonderfully increased. The seed in substance has been long and favorably known as a vermifuge, but its unpleasant taste and odor, and the bulk of the dose, have interfered with its use in this country. At this time the Santonin, on account of its being tasteless and a reliable vermifuge, is fast displacing all other remedies for worms.

Almost all of the popular worm nostrums of the day depend for their efficacy upon the Santonin which they contain; but in these it is found in varying proportions and of uncertain purity, and very often not in combination with other elements unknown to the physicians, and often hazardous in their nature.

My purpose is to present to the medical profession this valuable medicine in a simple, reliable, and agreeable form, in determined quantities, and of uniform composition. To accomplish this I have prepared these Lozenges with great care, of Santonin of tested purity, very carefully distributed throughout the mass from which the Lozenges are formed.

The materials have been so compounded that the Lozenges will stand unaltered by time or climate. The boxes are also impervious to moisture from the atmosphere.

To give the Santonin time for full effect upon the worms, the addition of any purgative medicine to the Lozenges has been avoided. It may therefore be proper, two or three hours after the administration of the second dose, to use some simple purgative for the purpose only of discharging the worms.

These Lozenges contain only pure sugar and pure Santonin. The only merit I claim is the ascertained purity of the ingredients and its thorough and careful distribution so that each Lozenge contains the exact portion of Santonin, the dose sufficiently indicating the quantity.
